The Log Of Rubin The Sailor:

The Log of Rubin the Sailor Charles R. Rubin, 1973 The story of four decades of life at sea is told in this autobiography of a sailor who served in the Navy in World War I and as a merchant seaman in the years that followed The author a founder of the National Maritime Union splices a warm personal tale to an account of the struggles at sea and ashore to build a fighting union His story is a meaningful bridge between yesterday s labor history and the union problems of today Workers on the Waterfront Bruce Nelson, 1990 With working lives characterized by exploitation and rootlessness merchant seamen were isolated from mainstream life Yet their contacts with workers in port cities around the world imbued them with a sense of internationalism These factors contributed to a subculture that encouraged militancy spontaneous radicalism and a syndicalist mood Bruce Nelson s award winning book examines the insurgent activity and consciousness of maritime workers during the 1930s As he shows merchant seamen and longshoremen on the Pacific Coast made major institutional gains sustained a lengthy period of activity and expanded their working class consciousness Nelson examines the two major strikes that convulsed the region and caused observers to state that day to day labor relations resembled guerilla warfare He also looks at related activity from increasing political activism to stoppages to defend laborers from penalties refusals to load cargos for Mussolini s war in Ethiopia and forced boardings of German vessels to tear down the swastika Second String Red Albert Vetere Lannon, 1999-01-01 In this fascinating biography Albert Lannon son of Al Lannon offers a scholarly look at his father s life and development as an American Communist Beginning with Al Lannon s days as a teenage runaway and following his career in the Party the author utilizes primary and secondary sources to document this extraordinary life in depth Concluding the book with his own perspectives on his father s life Lannon presents a unique and personal view of this important figure in American labor history Second String Red will be of great interest to scholars of American trade unionism and communism A New Deal for All? Andor Skotnes, 2012-12-14 In A New Deal for All Andor Skotnes examines the interrelationships between the Black freedom movement and the workers movement in Baltimore and Maryland during the Great Depression and the early years of the Second World War Adding to the growing body of scholarship on the long civil rights struggle he argues that such border state movements helped resuscitate and transform the national freedom and labor struggles In the wake of the Great Crash of 1929 the freedom and workers movements had to rebuild themselves often in new forms In the early 1930s deepening commitments to antiracism led Communists and Socialists in Baltimore to launch racially integrated initiatives for workers rights the unemployed and social justice An organization of radicalized African American youth the City Wide Young People s Forum emerged in the Black community and became involved in mass educational anti lynching and Buy Where You Can Work campaigns often in multiracial alliances with other progressives During the later 1930s the movements of Baltimore merged into new and renewed national organizations especially the CIO and the NAACP and built mass regional struggles While this collaboration declined after the war Skotnes shows that the earlier cooperative efforts greatly shaped national freedom campaigns to come including the civil rights movement

Wobblies on the Waterfront Peter Cole, 2010-10-01 The rise and fall of America's first truly interracial labor union For almost a decade during the 1910s and 1920s the Philadelphia waterfront was home to the most durable interracial multiethnic union seen in the United States prior to the CIO era For much of its time Local 8 was majority black always with a cadre of black leaders The union also claimed immigrants from Eastern Europe as well as many Irish Americans who had a notorious reputation for racism This important study is the first book length examination of how Local 8 affiliated with the Industrial Workers of the World accomplished what no other did at the time Peter Cole outlines the factors that were instrumental in Local 8's success both ideological the IWW's commitment to working class solidarity and pragmatic racial divisions helped solidify employer dominance He also shows how race was central not only to the rise but also to the decline of Local 8 as increasing racial tensions were manipulated by employers and federal agents bent on the union's destruction

The Baltimore Book Elizabeth Fee, Linda Shopes, Linda Zeidman, 1993-11 Baltimore has a long colorful history that traditionally has been focused on famous men social elites and patriotic events The Baltimore Book is both a history of the other Baltimore and a tour guide to places in the city that are important to labor African American and women's history The book grew out of a popular local bus tour conducted by public historians the People's History Tour of Baltimore that began in 1982 This book records and adds sites to that tour provides maps photographs and contemporary documents and includes interviews with some of the uncelebrated people whose experiences as Baltimoreans reflect more about the city than Francis Scott Key ever did The tour begins at the B Fells Point Sparrows Point the suburbs Federal Hill and Baltimore's renaissance at Harborplace Interviews with community activists civil rights workers Catholic Workers and labor union organizers bring color and passion to this historical tour Specific labor struggles class and race relations and the contributions of women to Baltimore's development are emphasized at each stop Author note Elizabeth Fee is Professor in the Department of Health Policy and Management of The Johns Hopkins University School of Hygiene and Public Health Linda Shopes is Associate Historian at the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission Linda Zeidman is Professor of History and Economics at Essex Community College

The Communist Party in Maryland, 1919-57 Vernon L. Pedersen, 2001 He also tracks the public's changing perception of the Communists from amused unconcern to alarm and details how the Ober antisubversive law and the HUAC hearings of the 1950s dismantled the Party from without while planting seeds of paranoia that destroyed it from within

The Communist Party on the American Waterfront Vernon L. Pedersen, 2019-12-20 In the early years of the Great Depression the Marine Workers Industrial Union MWIU was a colorful presence on the American Waterfront In 1935 the MWIU seemed to vanish closing its halls and stopping its publications Vernon L. Pedersen convincingly demonstrates that the MWIU did not vanish instead it was ordered by the Moscow based Communist International to send its members into mainstream ALF unions and take over from the inside Initiated by accident on the west coast and deliberately duplicated in the east the Communists seized control of the west coast longshoremen s union destroyed the International Seamen s Union and created the Communist dominated National Maritime Union Fight Against Fear Clive Webb,2011-03-15 In the uneasily shared history of Jews and blacks in America the struggle for civil rights in the South may be the least understood episode Fight against Fear is the first book to focus on Jews and African Americans in that remarkable place and time Mindful of both communities precarious and contradictory standings in the South Clive Webb tells a complex story of resistance and complicity conviction and apathy Webb begins by ranging over the experiences of southern Jews up to the eve of the civil rights movement from antebellum slaveowners to refugees who fled Hitler s Europe only to arrive in the Jim Crow South He then shows how the historical burden of ambivalence between Jews and blacks weighed on such issues as school desegregation the white massive resistance movement and business boycotts and sit ins As many Jews grappled as never before with the ways they had become and yet never could become southerners their empathy with African Americans translated into scattered individual actions rather than any large scale organized alliance between the two groups The reasons for this are clear Webb says once we get past the notion that the choices of the much larger less conservative and urban centered Jewish populations of the North define those of all American Jews To understand Jews in the South we must look at their particular circumstances their small numbers and wide distribution denominational rifts and well founded anxiety over defying racial and class customs set by the region s white Protestant majority For better or worse we continue to define the history of Jews and blacks in America by its flash points By setting aside emotions and shallow perceptions Fight against Fear takes a substantial step toward giving these two communities the more open and evenhanded consideration their shared experiences demand Worker-writer in America Douglas Wixson,1994 Conroy a coal miner s son who apprenticed at age thirteen in a railroad shop later migrated to factory cities and experienced the privation and labor struggles of the 1930s As worker and writer he composed The Disinherited one of the most important working class novels of the thirties As editor of a radical literary journal The Anvil he nurtured the early careers of Richard Wright Nelson Algren and Meridel LeSueur before his own literary work was eclipsed in the cold war years Douglas Wixson draws upon a wealth of letters and manuscripts made available to him as Conroy s literary executor as well as numerous interviews with Conroy and his former contributors and colleagues Wixson explores the origins and development of worker writing and the numerous little magazines it generated He examines the differences between the midwestern and East Coast literary worlds and the milieu in which Conroy and others like him worked the Depression job layoffs factory closings homelessness and migration
