The Path of Love Ronald D. Cowen, 2015-02-05 The Buddha was a scientist Instead of using a microscope or a particle accelerator the Buddha used ESP He had several psychic powers that allowed him to perceive in detail the psychology of karma the evolution of consciousness and subatomic particles He discovered love and self love to be organizing principles that evolved early in the history of intelligent consciousness especially with regard to feelings and emotions Every person has the deepest need to love and be loved He solved the mind body problem by perceiving the physical basis of intelligent consciousness These psychic powers are acknowledged in Hindu and Buddhist scriptures but extremely few people have them This book is essentially a meditation report written by someone who has them While this sounds like an invitation to return this book to the shelf in a bookstore it also documents in depth another report by a physicist Stephen Phillips who relates in comprehensive detail the relationship between modern superstring theory and extrasensory observation of the elements of the periodic table by Annie Besant and Charles Leadbeater of the Theosophical Society This strong connection between modern physics and psychic powers of the Buddha is a real challenge to both the modern scientist and the modern Buddhist The Fortnightly, 1908 Flirtation and Courtship in Nineteenth-Century British Culture Ghislaine

McDayter, John Hunter, 2022-08-08 This is volume two of a three volume set that brings together a rich collection of primary source materials on flirtation and courtship in the nineteenth century Introductory essays and extensive editorial apparatus offer historical and cultural contexts of the materials included Throughout the long nineteenth century a woman's life was commonly thought to fall into three discrete developmental stages personal formation and a gendered education a young woman's entrance onto the marriage market and finally her emergence at the apogee of normative femininity as wife and mother In all three stages of development there was an unspoken awareness of the duplicity at the heart of this carefully cultivated femininity What women were taught no matter their age was that if you desired anything in life it behooved you to perform indifference This meant that for women the art of flirtation and feigning indifference were viewed as essential survival skills that could guarantee success in life These three volumes document the many ways in which nineteenth century women were educated in this seemingly universal wisdom but just as frequently managed to manipulate subvert and navigate their way through such proscribed norms to achieve their own desires Presenting a wide range of documents from novels memoirs literary journals newspapers plays poetry songs parlour games and legal documents this collection will illuminate a far more diverse set of options available to women in their quest for happiness and a new understanding of the operations of courtship and flirtation the central concerns of a nineteenth century woman's life The volumes will be of interest to scholars of history literature gender and cultural studies with an interest in the nineteenth century From the Hands to the
