Studies In Medievalism X 1998 Medievalism And The Academy Ii Cultural Studies:

Medievalism and the Academy II David Metzger, 2000 The second part of Medievalism and the Academy identifies the four specific questions that have come to focus recent scholarship in medievalism What is difference what is theory woman God The impact of cultural studies on contemporary medieval studies is investigated in this latest volume of Studies in Medievalism which also offers an account of the developing interest of contemporary cultural theorists in the medieval period Rather than dismissing the connection between medieval studies and cultural criticism as an expression of academic self interest the essays identify specific questions which engage both such as race history women religion and literature Topics include the use of Augustine by postcolonial theorists the influence of studies in medieval mysticism on the development of women's studies programs and the influence of Foucault and New Historicism on the study of medieval history Contributors ELLIE RAGLAND TIMOTHY RICHARDSON MICHAEL BERNARD DONALD CLAY KINSNER LINDA SEXSON REBECCA DOUGLASS LOUISE SYLVESTER RICHARD GLEJZER CHARLES WILSON ANDREW J DELL OLIO Medievalism on the Margins Karl Fugelso, Alicia C. Montoya, Vincent Ferré, 2015 Essays on the post modern reception and interpretation of the middle ages National Medievalism in the Twenty-first Century Matthias D. Berger, 2023 How ideas and ideals of an imagined protean national Middle Ages have once again become a convergence point for anxieties about politics history and cultural identity in our time and why After a period of abeyance the link forged in the nineteenth century between the Middle Ages and national identity is increasingly being reclaimed with numerous groups and individuals mining an imagined medieval past to present ideas and ideals of modern nationhood Today's national medievalism asserts itself at the interface of culture and politics in literature and television programming in journalism and heritage tourism and in the way political actors of various stripes use a deep past that supposedly proves the nation's steady exceptionalism in a hectic globalised world This book traces these ongoing developments in Switzerland and Britain two countries where the medieval past has recently been much invoked in negotiations of national identity independence and Euroscepticism Through comparative analysis it explores examples of reemerging stories of national exceptionalism stories that ironically echo those of other nations The author analyses depictions of Robert the Bruce and Wilhelm Tell medievalism in the discourse surrounding Brexit as well as at the Welsh Senedd novels like Paul Kingsnorth's The Wake community based art such as the Great Tapestry of Scotland and elaborate public commemorations of Swiss victories and defeats in battle Basing his critical readings in current theories of cultural memory heritage and nationalism the author explores how the protean national Middle Ages have once again become a convergence point for anxieties about politics history and cultural identity in our time and why Female Devotion and Textile Imagery in Medieval English Literature Anna McKay, 2024 Uncovers the female voices lived experiences and spiritual insights encoded by the imagery of textiles in the Middle Ages For millennia women have spoken and read through cloth The literature and art of the Middle Ages are replete with images of women working cloth wielding spindles distaffs and needles or sitting at their looms Yet they have been little explored Drawing upon the burgeoning field of medieval textile studies as well as contemporary theories of gender materiality and eco criticism this study illustrates how textiles provide a hermeneutical alternative to the patriarchally dominated written word It puts forward the argument that women s devotion during this period was a fabricated phenomenon a mode of spirituality and religious exegesis expressed devised and practised through cloth Centred on four icons of female devotion Eve Mary St Veronica and of course Christ the book explores a broad range of narratives from across the rich tapestry of medieval English literature from the fields of Piers Plowman to the late medieval Morte D arthur the devotions of Margery Kempe to the visionary experiences of Julian of Norwich Gervase of Tilbury s fabulous Otia Imperialia to the anchoritic guidance literature of the Middle Ages and the innumerable and oft forgotten lives of Christ prayers legends and miracle tales in between

Maistresse of My Wit Louise D'Arcens, Juanita Feros Ruys, 2004 This volume explores the reciprocal relationships that can develop between medieval women writers and the modern scholars who study them Taking up the call to research the researcher the authors indicate not only what they bring to their study from their own personal experience but how their methodologies and ways of thinking about and dealing with the past have been influenced by the medieval women they study Medieval women writers discussed include those writing in the vernacular such as Christine de Pizan and Margaret Paston those writing in Latin such as Hildegard of Bingen Heloise and Birgitta of Sweden and the works transcribed from women mystics such as Margery Kempe Hadewijch and Julian of Norwich Attention is also given to medieval women as the readers consumers and patrons of written works Issues considered in this volume include the place of ethics interestedness and social justice in contemporary medieval studies questions of alterity empathy essentialism and appropriation in dealing with figures of the medieval past the permeable boundaries between academic medieval studies and popular medievalism questions of situatedness and academic voice and the relationship between feminism and medieval studies Linked to these issues is the interrelation between medieval women and medieval men in the production and consumption of written works both for and about women and the implications of this for both female and male readers of those works today Overarching all these questions is that of the intellectual and methodological heritage sometimes ambiguous perhaps even problematic that medieval women continue to offer us

Healing the Body Politic Karen Green, C. J. Mews, 2005 Christine de Pizan 1364 1431 has been recognised as a poet early humanist and feminist precursor but rarely as political theorist whose works were intended to have a direct impact on the tumultuous politics of her time The essays in this collection focus on Christine as a political writer and provide an important resource for those wishing to understand her political thought They locate her political writing in the late medieval tradition discussing her indebtedness to Aristotle Aquinas and Augustine as well as her transformations of their thought They also illuminate Christines political epistemology her understanding of political wisdom as a part of theology the knowledge of God New light is thrown on the circumstances which prompted Christine to write on political issues and on her attitude to Isabeau of Bavaria These essays show that Christines originality consisted in her capacity to modify and feminise the tradition of Christian Aristotelianism through the use of elements of Christian imagery in particular Mariology in order to construct an image of the virtuous and prudent monarch which had lost the explicitly manly and warlike character of the Aristotelian phronimos This reconfigured image of the monarch lent itself to the extension which she developed in her more feminist works which demonstrated the prudence of women and their capacity in times of need to function as authoritative political figures

Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff,Staff Bowker, Ed,2004 Cultures of the Fragment

Heather Bamford,2018-06-26 The majority of medieval and sixteenth century Iberian manuscripts whether in Latin Hebrew Arabic Spanish or Aljamiado Spanish written in Arabic script contain fragments or are fragments The term fragment is used to describe not only isolated bits of manuscript material with a damaged appearance but also any piece of a larger text that was intended to be a fragment Investigating the vital role these fragments played in medieval and early modern Iberian manuscript culture Heather Bamford s Cultures of the Fragment is focused on fragments from five major Iberian literary traditions including Hispano Arabic and Hispano Hebrew poetry Latin and Castilian epics chivalric romances and the literature of early modern crypto Muslims The author argues that while some manuscript fragments came about by accident many were actually created on purpose and used in a number of ways from binding materials to anthology excerpts and some fragments were even incorporated into sacred objects as messages of good luck Examining four main motifs of fragmentation including intention physical appearance metonymy and performance this work reveals the centrality of the fragment to manuscript studies highlighting the significance of the fragment to Iberia s multicultural and multilingual manuscript culture

Transnationalism in Ancient and Medieval Societies Michael C. Howard,2014-01-10 While scholars have long documented the migration of people in ancient and medieval times they have paid less attention to those who traveled across borders with some regularity This study of early transnational relations explores the routine interaction of people across the boundaries of empires tribal confederacies kingdoms and city states paying particular attention to the role of long distance trade along the Silk Road and maritime trade routes It examines the obstacles voyagers faced including limited travel and communication capabilities relatively poor geographical knowledge and the dangers of a fragmented and shifting political landscape and offers profiles of better known transnational elites such as the Hellenic scholar Herodotus and the Venetian merchant Marco Polo as well lesser known servants merchants and sailors By revealing the important political economic and cultural role cross border trade and travel played in ancient society this work demonstrates that transnationalism is not unique to modern
