Davis,W. Charemza,2012-12-06 The centrally planned economies CPEs of the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe have experienced severe imbalances in domestic and external markets over the past several decades As a result they have been chronically afflicted by problems such as excess demand repressed inflation deficits of commodities queues waiting lists and forced savings Economists have responded to these phenomena by developing appropriate theoretical and empirical models of CPEs Of particular note have been the pioneering studies of Richard Portes on disequilibrium econometric models and Janos Kornai on the shortage economy Each approach has attracted followers who have produced numerous innovative macro and microeconomic models of Poland Czechoslovakia the German Democratic Republic Hungary and the USSR These models have proved to be of considerable value in the analysis of the causes consequences and remedies of disequilibrium phenomena Inevitably the new research has also generated controversies both between and within the schools of shortage and disequilibrium modelling concerning the fundamental nature of the socialist economy theoretical concepts and definitions the specification of models estimation techniques interpretation of empirical findings and policy recommendations Furthermore the research effort has been energetic but incomplete so many gaps exist in the field Macroeconometric Models Władysław Welfe,2013-02-15 This book gives a comprehensive description of macroeconometric modeling and its development over time The first part depicts the history of macroeconometric model building starting with Jan Tinbergen s and Lawrence R Klein s contributions It is unique in

Joint Economic Committee,1979 Soviet Economy in a Time of Change ,1979 The Economics Of Soviet Bloc Trade And Finance Franklyn D Holzman,2019-06-26 Reflecting Professor Holzman s important work this book deals with major issues relating to both East West and intra bloc trade Professor Holzman explores the transition in Soviet bloc economies over the past fifteen years from balanced hard currency trade to large deficits with the West and the consequent development of a huge hard currency debt He compares the causes and treatments of deficits in planned economies with those in market economies and explores the dramatic differences in foreign trade behavior exhibited by Eastern and Western nations and the difficulties that arise when these conflicting systems interact in world markets He also assesses the impact of Western economic warfare on the Soviet Union and makes recommendations for future U S trade policy The author next turns to the issue of intra bloc trade In its early years the USSR economically exploited the smaller East European nations but many argue that the Soviet Union now subsidizes trade with its partners in the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance in exchange for political military and ideological support an argument that Professor Holzman strongly challenges He also contends that CMEA when viewed as a preferential trade group or customs union has been markedly unsuccessful On another level Professor Holzman assesses the causes and possible cures for the serious chronic problems related to currency inconvertibility rigid bilateralism and inability to use exchange rates as tools of economic adjustment In an international economy growing ever more interdependent the issues raised in these previously uncollected essays will continue to gain in importance as East and West meet in trade
