

Sun isn't actually on fire. Fire requires oxygen, and there's none in space. Instead, the Sun glows through nuclear fusion a process where hydrogen atoms crash together under extreme heat and pressure to form helium. This reaction releases massive energy, which radiates outward as the brilliant light and warmth we see and feel.

Bodies of Water in African American Literature, Music, and Film Sharon A. Lewis, Ama S. Wattley, 2023-05-04 This is an edited volume of original essays which explore the meaning of bodies of water in creative narratives by African Americans. The contributors explore the representations of still and moving waterbodies across several genres of literature, film, and music. They also deploy socio-historical and environmental theories in addition to close reading/interpretive strategies, all acknowledging and developing traditional ways of thinking about water in relation to African American experience and culture. The writers gathered here showcase insightful and vigorous research in various art forms and together embody provocative, innovative, and refreshing ways to contemplate water in Black American artistic expressivity. Artificial
