Spacefarers Michael J. Neufeld, 2013-11-06 The recent 50th anniversaries of the first human spaceflights by the Soviet Union and the United States and the 30th anniversary of the launching of the first U S Space Shuttle mission have again brought to mind the pioneering accomplishments of the first quarter century of humans in space Historians political scientists and others have extensively examined the technical programmatic and political history of human spaceflight from the 1960s to the 1980s but work is only beginning on the social and cultural history of the pioneering era One rapidly developing area of recent scholarship is the examination of the images of spacefarers in the media government propaganda and popular culture How was space travel imagined in the visual media on the cusp of human spaceflights How were astronauts and cosmonauts represented in official and quasi official media portraits And how were those images reproduced and transformed by in the imagination of film makers movie producers popular writers and novelists Spacefarers addresses these questions with nine contributions from scholars in the field of aerospace history Russian and American history and English literature These essays are preceded by an introduction by the editor who discusses their place in the historiography of spaceflight and social and cultural history The book will have potential appeal to a wide variety of scholars in history literature and the social sciences and will include a number of striking visual images Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals, 1965 A Bibliography of Aerospace Books and Teaching Aids for Elementary School Pupils and Teachers National Aerospace Education Council (U.S.), 1961 Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports, 1979

Sundog Brian Ball, 2015-06-30 The Solar System was imprisoned Locked in a vast invisible screen Set there by something or someone but no one knew why And man banned from the stars turned inward to himself to a world of carefully controlled thoughts and ideas a world where it was forbidden to dream Press Department Releases Soviet Union. Posol'stvo (U.S.), 1961 Moon Bound Colin Burgess, 2013-03-12 Often lost in the shadow of the first group of astronauts for the Mercury missions the second and third groups included the leading figures for NASA s activities for the following two decades Moon Bound complements the author s recently published work Selecting the Mercury Seven 2011 extending the story of the men who helped to launch human spaceflight and broaden the American space program Although the initial 1959 group became known as the legendary pioneering Mercury astronauts the astronauts of Groups 2 and 3 gave us many household names Sixteen astronauts from both groups traveled to the Moon in Project Apollo with several actually walking on the Moon one of them being Neil Armstrong This book draws on interviews to tell the astronauts personal stories and recreate the drama of that time It describes the process by which they were selected as astronauts and explains how the criteria had changed since the first group Moon Bound is divided into two parts recounting the biographies relating to the nine astronauts from NASA s Group 2 in the first part and the fourteen finalists in Group 3 in the second part The stories of both selection groups are narrated through the experiences of four finalists with interesting backgrounds One of these men is

Al Rupp of the USAF who as a West Point cadet cheekily helped to steal the Navy mascot goat prior to the annual Army versus Navy game in 1953 thus achieving legendary status in the game s history Rupp was killed in a plane crash just two years after being named as a finalist for Group 3 The service career of naval aviator John Yamnicky was also very much the equal of other finalists but he was killed on September 11 2001 as he was a passenger on hijacked Flight 77 which was flown into the Pentagon At the end of the work there are several chapters on how these candidates were prepped for their missions
