Perceptual Organization in Computer and Biological Vision James Elder,Dirk

Bernhardt-Walther, Anitha Pasupathy, Mary A. Peterson, 2024-08-22 A principal challenge for both biological and machine vision systems is to integrate and organize the diversity of cues received from the environment into the coherent global representations we experience and require to make good decisions and take effective actions Early psychological investigations date back more than 100 years to the seminal work of the Gestalt school Yet in the last 50 years neuroscientific and computational approaches to understanding perceptual organization have become equally important and a full understanding requires integration of all three approaches This highly interdisciplinary Research Topic welcomes contributions spanning Computer Science Psychology and Neuroscience with the aim of presenting a single unified collection that will encourage integration and cross fertilization across disciplines The Laryngoscope, 1922 The Homeopathic Eye, Ear, and Throat Journal, 1899 United States Naval Medical Bulletin, 1942 Attention and Vision in Language Processing Ramesh Kumar Mishra, Narayanan Srinivasan, Falk Huettig, 2015-07-13 This volume provides a comprehensive overview of the nature of attentional and visual processes involved in language comprehension Key concerns include how linguistic and non linguistic processes jointly determine language comprehension and production and how the linguistic system interfaces with perceptual systems and attention Language scientists have traditionally considered language in isolation from other cognitive and perceptual systems such as attention vision and memory In recent years however it has become increasingly clear that language comprehension must be studied within interaction contexts The study of multimodal interactions and attentional processes during language processing has thus become an important theoretical focus that guides many research programs in psycholinguistics and related fields
