Australian Languages Claire Bowern, Harold James Koch, 2004-01-01 This book addresses controversial issues in the application of the comparative method to the languages of Australia which have recently come to international prominence Are these languages different in ways that challenge the fundamental assumptions of historical linguistics Can subgrouping be successfully undertaken using the Comparative Method Is the genetic construct of a far flung Pama Nyungan language family supportable by classic methods of reconstruction Contrary to increasingly established views of the Australian scene this book makes a major contribution to the demonstration that traditional methods can indeed be applied to these languages

These studies introduced by chapters on subgrouping methodology and the history of Australian linguistic classification rigorously apply the comparative method to establishing subgroups among Australian languages and justifying the phonology of Proto Pama Nyungan Individual chapters can profitably be read either for their contribution to Australian linguistic prehistory or as case studies in the application of the comparative method Contributions by B Alpher B Baker C Bower N C Bower N G Breen L Campbell I Green L Hercus H Koch P McConvell L Miceli G O Grady J Simpson L Hercus

Interdisciplinary Approaches to Language C. Georgopoulos, Roberta Ishihara, 2012-12-06 The thirty two papers in this collection are offered to Professor S Y Kuroda by his friends as a gesture of their deep respect and enduring affection One of the many ways in which Professor Kuroda has impressed us all is in the breadth of his interests and areas of expertise He is one of those rare scholars whose work and interests span the whole range of his discipline He is a figure of such intellectual stature that he has inspired influenced and encouraged researchers in an astonishing variety of projects He continues to do so at an unslackened pace today just as his own productivity remains vigorous But mention of Yuki's inspiration and influence is inadequate without mention of his special humorousness his mischievous wit his charm and as a friend has added a unique warmth Knowing Yuki and counting him quality to our lives We who have contributed to this collection have done so in partial acknowledgement of and gratitude for this benign and masterful influence The contributions to the collection reflect the range of Yuki's own interests and cover a rich variety of approaches to the analysis of natural language These include papers in philosophy psychology computer science artificial intelligence and linguistics and within linguistics the entire breadth of the field phonology morphology syntax semantics pragmatics and computation Though diverse in their themes language areas and foci the papers are bound by their authors common bond to Yuki Handbook of Australian Languages Robert M. W. Dixon, Barry J. Blake, 1979 This handbook makes available short grammatical sketches of Australian languages Each grammar is written in a standard format following guidelines provided by the editors and includes a sample text and vocabulary text The contributions to this volume are salvage studies giving all the information that is available on four languages which are on the point of extinction and an assessment of what linguistic impressions can be inferred from the scant material that is available on the extinct languages of Tasmania Mediating between Concepts and Grammar Holden Härtl, Heike Tappe, 2011-06-24 Researchers with backgrounds in theoretical linguistics computational linguistics psycholinguistics and psychology have contributed to the interdisciplinary discussion of the interface between conceptual representations and linguistic structures This book fills a critical gap in cognitive science The study implements the objective of determining the impact that adjoining non linguistic cognitive systems have on linguistic encoding the mapping between representations and the requirements of language processing In this setting event conceptualization and verbalization is treated as one central phenomenon from the different interdisciplinary viewpoints Theoretical analyses are confronted with psycholinguistic findings about the processing of event representations Further empirical issues like the influence of visual perception on speech become apparent since we are primarily concerned with the overall architecture of the language processing system as an integral part of the cognitive endowment Here the lexicon is recognized as a mediator between linguistic and non linguistic semantic and syntactic components The volume constitutes a major contribution to knowledge in the field and will be of value to an interdisciplinary audience

Phi Theory Daniel Harbour, David Adger, Susana Béjar, 2008-05-01 Phi features such as person number and gender present a rare opportunity for syntacticians morphologists and semanticists to collaborate on a research enterprise in which they all have an equal stake and which they all approach with data and insights from their own fields This volume is the first to attempt to bring together these different strands and styles of research It presents the core questions major results and new directions of this emergent area of linguistic theory and shows how Phi Theory casts light on the nature of interfaces and the structure of the grammar The book will interest scholars and students of all aspects of linguistic theory at graduate level and above

The Language Builder Claude Hagège, 1993 Linguistics as a social science should have something to teach us about humans as social beings However modern grammatical theories regard languages as autonomous systems so these theories are little concerned with speakers and hearers their interactions and their relationship to the world around them Further these theories tend toward excessive concern with methodology and the properties of linguistic systems neglecting in fact the languages themselves and those who use them in everyday life Even the shift toward cognitive approaches promising for their new insights into the brain still misses an equally important aspect of language namely a framework which would account for the social activity by which speakers build linguistic structures in order to meet the requirements of communication Based on a wide range of languages Hagège's work sheds light on the human language building activity He argues that the conscious and unconscious signatures of human nature are written everywhere in language The study of these signatures gives insight into basic characteristics of human beings tends to re humanize linguistics and stresses the importance of language as a dynamic activity as opposed to a self contained system

Songs from the Stations Myfany Turpin, Felicity Meakins, 2019 The Gurindji people of the Northern Territory are perhaps best known for their walk off of Wave Hill Station in 1966 protesting against mistreatment by the station managers The strike would become the first major victory of the Indigenous land rights movement Many discussions of station life are focused on the harsh treatment of Aboriginal workers Songs from the Stations portrays another side of life on Wave Hill Station Amongst the harsh conditions and decades of mistreatment an eclectic ceremonial life flourished during the first half of the 20th century Constant travel between cattle stations by Indigenous workers across north western and central Australia meant that Wave Hill Station became a cross road of desert and Top End musical styles As a result the Gurindji people learnt songs from the Mudburra who came further east the Bilinarra from the north the Nyininy from the west and the Warlpiri from the south This book is the first detailed documentation of wajarra public songs performed by the Gurindji people in response to contemporary events in their community Featuring five song sets known as Laka Mintiwarra
