Testicular Tangrams:

Testicular Tangrams F.F.G. Rommerts, K.J. Teerds, 2013-06-29 During the past two decades research on the testis has created a vast number of publications New techniques such as cell and gene cloning germ cell manipulation and transplantation as well as gene expression have surpassed the classical approaches that involved studies on receptor activation and endocrine paracrine and autocrine regulatory mechanisms Due to the expansion of this field of research it has become increasingly difficult to integrate the large number of observations and relate them to the physiology and pathophysiology of the testis More emphasis must therefore be put on the integration of isolated findings and the construction of the total picture In order to stimulate this specific mental activity we have named this book Testicular Tangram We hope that the chapters in this book will be used as pieces of the testicular puzzle and that the reader enjoys composing new shapes The chapters of this book are representative of the plenary lectures presented at the 11th European Workshop on Molecular and Cellular Endocrinology of the Testis held in Doorwerth The Netherlands from April 6 to 10 2002 Publication of this book has been made possible by the generous support of the Ernst Schering Research Foundation We would also like to thank the distinguished scientists who have provided us with their excellent manuscripts well before the start of the Workshop We acknowledge the help of Dr U F Habenicht Dr M Regulation of Sertoli Cell and Germ Cell Differentiation R. Brehm, Klaus Steger, 2005-12-12 Unwanted childlessness affects approximately one in six couples worldwide though the exact proportion of the predominant cause of the problem remains controversial according to the World Health Organization WHO in nearly 40% of cases the cause can be attributed to the female in 20% to the male in 25% to both and in 15% the cause remains unknown Based on these figures the incidence of male factor infertility in the general population is approximately 7% The majority of these men approximately 30% experience irreversible idiopathic infertility and cannot father children without some form of medical intervention Male factor infertility in addition may be caused by testicular germ cell cancer which is known to represent the most common cancer among young men aged 15 to 35 years in Western industrialized countries The number of affected men has increased dramatically over the past 50 years There is now growing evidence that human testicular germ cell cancer originates from fetal germ cells exhibiting an aberrant programme of gene expression and tumour progression may be favoured by an aberrant Sertoli cell germ cell communication New Mechanisms for Tissue-Selective Estrogen-Free Contraception H.B. Croxatto, R. Schürmann, U. Fuhrmann, I. Schellschmidt, 2007-01-19 Combined oral contraceptives are the most convenient and accepted method of hormonal contraception Nevertheless the medical community and consumers constantly demand innovation additional benefits during use and lower hormonal load despite the high safety profile of available products At the Ernst Schering Research Foundation Workshop 52 new perspectives and mechanisms for tissue selective estrogen free contraception were discussed The aim of the workshop was to bring together experts in the field of molecular and pharmacodynamic action of progestins with clinicians and medical experts to discuss potential medical endpoints physiological reactions and bio marker useful describing the tissue selectivity and the contraceptive action of new progestins in different target organs A major factor for successful realization of these new concepts is a deeper understanding of local pharmacological responses to progestins in general and to new progestins in particular

Small Molecule — Protein Interactions Herbert Waldmann, Marcus Koppitz, 2003-03-07 Based on the international workshop on Small Molecule Protein Interactions held in Berlin April 24 26 2002 researchers from industry and academic laboratories describe novel and efficient ways selecting promising new drug targets and developing small molecule inhibitors against them The structure of the book corresponds to the different aspects of the drug discovery process All chapters are written by leading experts in the field who present and discuss the most recent state of the art tools and techniques for the development of novel drugs The value of the book lies in surveying and summarizing the approaches taken by different companies and institutions giving the reader a balanced view on the use of the latest techniques on the one hand and experience based assistance in selecting appropriate tools for their own work on the other hand

Neuroinflammation in Stroke Ulrich Dirnagl, Bernd Elger, 2004-01-14 The successful treatment of acute stroke remains one of the major challenges in clinical medicine Over the last decades the understanding of stroke pathophysiology has greatly improved while the therapeutic options in stroke therapy remain very limited Today hyperacute mechanisms of damage such as excitotoxicity can be discriminated from delayed ones such as inflammation and apoptosis Targeting of inflammation has already been successfully applied in various stroke models but translation into a clinically efficacious strategy has not been achieved so far In this book leading experts in basic cerebrovascular research as well as stroke treatment review the current evidence for and against an important role for inflammation in stroke and explore the potential of treating or modulating inflammation in stroke therapy

The Promises and Challenges of Regenerative Medicine John Morser, S. -I. Nishikawa, 2007-01-19 Presents the advances in stem cell research This book discusses the analysis and use of stem cells in basic biology and their application in clinical practice

Chronic Viral and Inflammatory Cardiomyopathy Heinz-Peter Schultheiss, Joachim-Friedrich Kapp, Georg Grötzbach, 2007-01-19 The interconnectedness of genetics and susceptibility to disease viral and non viral inflammation and the role of immunity and the development of autoimmunity is a fascinating and much discussed topic in cardiomyopathy This publication constitutes the outcome of an ESRF meeting held together with the German Research Foundation Clinical researchers immunologists virologists and molecular biologists provide the latest findings in their fields advancing our understanding of what causes chronic viral and inflammatory cardiomyopathy why it affects a subset of individuals while sparing the majority how we can develop better therapies and whether the disease can be prevented Special emphasis is placed on the role of viruses in the aetiology and pathogenesis of cardiomyopathy The editors are convinced that the broad spectrum covered by this state of the art publication will be of exceptional value to its readers

PET Chemistry P.A. Schubiger, L. Lehmann, M. Friebe, 2007-01-19

Personalized medicine employing patient based tailor made therapeutic drugs is taking over treatment paradigms in a variety of fields in oncology and the central nervous system The success of such therapies is mainly dependent on efficacious therapeutic drugs and a selective imaging probe for identification of potential responders as well as therapy monitoring for an early benefit assessment Molecular imaging MI is based on the selective and specific interaction of a molecular probe with a biological target which is visualized through nuclear magnetic resonance near infrared or other methods Therefore it is the method of choice for patient selection and therapy monitoring as well as for specific point monitoring in modern drug development PET positron emitting tomography a nuclear medical imaging modality is ideally suited to produce three dimensional images of various targets or processes The rapidly increasing demand for highly selective probes for MI strongly pushes the development of new PET tracers and PET chemistry PET chemistry can be defined as the study of positron emitting compounds regarding their synthesis structure composition reactivity nuclear properties and processes and their properties in natural and natural environments In practice PET chemistry is strongly influenced by the unique properties of the radioisotopes used e.g half life chemical reactivity etc and integrates scientific aspects of nuclear organic inorganic and biochemistry

Leucocyte Trafficking A. Hamann, Khusru Asadullah, A. Schottelius, 2013-06-29 An essential component of inflammation is the migration of circulating leukocytes from blood into tissues This process is characterized by a multistep paradigm of sequential cell adhesion and activation events that lead to the extravasation of specific leukocyte subsets to different tissues in health and disease The first step of leukocyte extravasation the rolling of leukocytes is primarily mediated by the interactions of selectins and their ligands It has recently become evident that fucosyltransferases are crucial for selectin ligand synthesis inflammation and skin homing This book provides an in depth overview of the mechanisms of leukocyte trafficking and of the molecular mechanisms of selectin selectin ligand interactions and discusses options for pharmacological intervention to treat inflammatory diseases

Opportunities and Challenges of the Therapies

Targeting CNS Regeneration H.D. Perez, B. Mitrovic, A. Baron Van Evercooren, 2005-05-06 Today combined oral contraceptives are the most convenient and accepted way of hormonal contraception Nevertheless there is a constant demand in the medical community and consumer market for innovation additional benefits during use and lower hormonal load despite the high safety profile of available products At the Ernst Schering Research Foundation Workshop 52 new perspectives and mechanisms for tissue selective estrogen free contraception were discussed The aim of the workshop was to bring together experts in the field of molecular and pharmacodynamic action of progestins with clinicians and medical experts to discuss potential medical endpoints physiological reactions and biomarkers useful to describe the tissue selectivity and the contraceptive action of new progestins in different target organs A major success factor for the realization of these new concepts is a deeper understanding of local pharmacological responses to progestins in general and to new progestins in particular
