Good Time Girls of the Pacific Northwest Jan MacKell Collins, 2020-02-24 Throughout the development of the American West prostitution grew and flourished within the mining camps small towns and cities of the nineteenth century Pacific Northwest Whether escaping a bad home life lured by false advertising or seeking to subsidize their income thousands of women chose or were forced to enter an industry where they faced segregation and persecution fines and jailing and battled the hazards of disease drug addiction physical abuse and pregnancy They dreamed of escape through marriage or retirement but more often found relief only in death An integral part of western history the stories of these women continue to fascinate readers and captivate the minds of historians today California, Oregon, and Washington Archaeological Resource Study, 1990 Oregon Coast Highway Laura E. Wilt, 2019-05-20 By the time the final links in the Oregon Coast Highway were made in 1936 the highway stretched 394 miles from Astoria to the border of California It had taken 12 years to complete the construction over stretches of rugged headlands and thick forests Early travel along the coast was difficult what roads existed were generally unimproved and often completely impassable during the rainy winter months In many cases the beaches themselves served as the only means of transporting freight and passengers When Maj Henry Bowlby the first Oregon State Highway engineer outlined a proposed system of state highways in 1914 he presented the vision of a coastal highway to the Oregon State Highway Commission The eventual construction of this highway opened access to the Willamette Valley and beyond for many formerly isolated coastal communities It also signaled an economic shift that included the promotion of tourism and the accommodation of the flood of visitors anxious to take advantage of the spectacular vistas along the Oregon coast California, Oregon, and Washington Archaeological Resource Study: Appendices, 1990 Feasibility Report on Navigation Improvements, Coos Bay, 1994 Ecology, Pathology, and Management of Port-Orford-cedar (Chamaecyparis Lawsoniana) Donald B.
