Rewriting the First Crusade Thomas W. Smith, 2024 An exploration of the letters from the First Crusade yielding evidence for a number of reinterpretations of the movement The letters stemming from the First Crusade are premier sources for understanding the launch campaign and aftermath of the expedition Between 1095 and 1100 epistles sustained social relationships across the Mediterranean and within Europe as a mixture of historical writing literary invention news and theological interpretation They served ecclesiastical administration projected authority and formed focal points for spiritual commemoration and para liturgical campaigns This volume grounded on extensive research into the original manuscripts and presenting numerous new manuscript witnesses argues that some of the letters are post hoc inventions composed by generations of scribe readers who visited crusading sites from the twelfth century on adding new layers of meaning in the form of interpolations and post scripts Drawing upon this new understanding and blurring the distinction of epistolary reality it rewrites central aspects of the history of the First Crusade considering the documents in a new way as markers of enthusiasm and support for the crusade movement among monastic clergy who copied and consumed them as a form of scribal crusading Whether authentic letters or literary confections they functioned as communal sites for the celebration commemoration and memorialisation of the expedition
