Mulder, 2025-09-18 Are the machines taking over Artificial intelligence suddenly seems to be everywhere including in the world of education With new AI powered tools popping up every day it's no wonder that educators might feel overwhelmed. How can we navigate the strange new world of AI without losing our humanity or our sense of humor? Blending thoughtful theology, practical wisdom, and a deep love for teaching, this book invites educators to reflect on big questions: What does it mean to be a real human in an age of artificial intelligence? What tools should we adopt and which ones should we avoid, and how can we decide? How do we stay grounded in the gospel story while adapting to emerging technologies? Rather than offering easy answers or alarmist warnings, let's consider an approach that is curious and courageous: developing a hopeful vision for education that forms both minds and hearts. Standing on the truth of Scripture and keeping a finger on the tech pulse, this book helps Christian educators practice thinking faithfully, acting ethically, and teaching joyfully, even when algorithms are everywhere. Teaching Christianly with technology isn't about keeping up with the latest tools and trends; it's about being the humans God created us to be. The Whole Truth Mark Eckel, 2003. The audience for this book is twofold: 1. teacher programs in colleges that are training the next generation of Christian school teachers and 2. instructors already practicing their vocation in the Christian academy. The present volume seeks to wed the philosophy of biblical integration with the practice of biblical integration. Biblical integration is hard work. Therefore, many concrete examples will be used to facilitate understanding of the ideas. Christian and Critical English Language Educators in Dialogue Mary Shepard Wong, Suresh Canagarajah, 2009-06-25. This volume critically examines how English language teaching professionals wrestle with ideological, pedagogical, and spiritual dilemmas as they seek to understand the place of faith in education. Always Becoming, Never Arriving David J. Mulder, 2024-12-19. Does Jesus care how I arrange the desks in my classroom? How I evaluate student work? The way I interact with students and colleagues? What if all these small, moment-by-moment classroom decisions a Christian teacher makes are actually the evidence of living discipleship? Teaching Christianly does not just happen; it is the result of deliberate choices to work toward shrinking the gap between what we say we believe and what we actually do in our teaching. This book is an exploration of the teaching profession through the lens of living out our calling through teaching as discipleship. Whether you are new to the profession or a seasoned veteran, you will find ideas to expand your imagination about what teaching Christianly looks like, considering topics that run the range from professionalism and ethics to a biblical view of learners and learning, to content knowledge and curriculum to planning instruction and assessment. Teaching Christianly is a journey, a process of growing as a more faithful disciple and more closely following Jesus day by day. Learning to teach Christianly is an adventure of always becoming and never arriving until that day when we meet the Lord face to face. Welcome to the adventure. Practice and Profile Johan Hegeman, Margaret Edgell, Henk Jochemsen, 2011-02-28. Too many students are disappointed. They want to make a difference in their chosen professions. They are inspired by successful visionaries, but they have little idea how to follow in their oversized footsteps. Their colleges and universities promise more professional development than they can possibly deliver, especially in terms of moral development for the professions. Experts coming from a range of perspectives in higher education agree that moral formation for the professions must increasingly take place in higher education Tragically the recent evolution of teaching has stripped educators of much of the rationale for moral formation The recent record of moral lapses by managers testifies to this crisis of moral education The authors call for a revival of moral formation in higher education for the professions They supply the needed resources to redesign classic as well as cutting edge teaching and learning toward practical moral education in the professions This book is carefully designed to apply traditional Christian principles appropriately to evolving professional practices The authors strategies address the problems surrounding calling vocation and the growing need for virtue training in the professions In particular the authors provide clear direction for how to meet the need for professional profiles that meet the standards of the marketplace Practice and Profile provides the reader with a tested and proven model of faith formation appropriate to the professions It also goes into specific useful detail as to how the model mobilizes learning in classroom and professional settings It aids institutions of higher learning in their struggle with demands for new learning environments and new moral competencies Foremost it gives students a grasp of how to become dedicated professionals who make a difference
