family while the symptoms of Huntington's disease gradually set in. Born of a family of impoverished Cornish fishermen, he and his six sisters cared for their dying mother after losing their father at the start of World War I. Before Huntington's reared himself in their lives and led to the death of three of the siblings. An absorbing, tense story of a building family crisis, this is an inspiring narrative showing that through courage and faith in the face of great adversity, peace can be found. Stranger on the Shore Carol Duncan, 1989 Free Russia, 1901 Stranger and a Sojourner: passage Peter Calder, Free Black Frontier Arkansas (c) Billy D. Higgins, 2004 Like many frontier people, Peter Calder was unschooled and signed his name only with a mark. To document such a man's life and to determine how he thrived within a slave society and came to join a free black backwoods community, Billy Higgins has interwoven oft-neglected primary sources from around the country, many of which are reproduced here. Through the information revealed in censuses, tax records, sutler's account books, army returns, folk stories, land warrants, traveler's journals, and newspaper notices, a fascinating account of Calder, his family, his friends, and his community has emerged. A place of escape, of carefree summer holidays, of spa towns and health retreats. A place where some of the darkest stories of 20th Century German history played out. Inspired by his wife's collection of family photographs from the 1930s and her memories of growing up on the Baltic coast in the GDR, Paul Scraton set out to travel from Lübeck to the Polish border on the island of Usedom, an area central to the mythology of a nation and bearing the heavy legacy of trauma. Exploring a world of socialist summer camps, Hanseatic trading towns long past their heyday, and former fishing villages surrendered to tourism, Ghosts on the Shore unearths the stories, folklore, and contradictions of the coast where politics, history, and personal memory merge to create a nuanced portrait of place.
