Strangers Citizens:

Talking to Strangers Danielle Allen, 2009-08-01 Don't talk to strangers is the advice long given to children by parents of all classes and races. Today it has blossomed into a fundamental precept of civic education reflecting interracial distrust, personal and political alienation, and a profound suspicion of others. In this powerful and eloquent essay, Danielle Allen, a 2002 MacArthur Fellow, takes this maxim back to Little Rock, rooting out the seeds of distrust to replace them with a citizenship of political friendship. Returning to the landmark Brown v. Board of Education decision of 1954 and to the famous photograph of Elizabeth Eckford, one of the Little Rock Nine, being cursed by fellow citizen Hazel Bryan, Allen argues that we have yet to complete the transition to political friendship that this moment offered. By combining brief readings of philosophers and political theorists with personal reflections on race politics in Chicago, Allen proposes strikingly practical techniques of citizenship. These tools of political friendship, Allen contends, can help us become more trustworthy to others and overcome the fossilized distrust among us. Sacrifice is the key concept that bridges citizenship and trust, according to Allen. She uncovers the ordinary daily sacrifices citizens make to keep democracy working and offers methods for recognizing and reciprocating those sacrifices. Trenchant, incisive, and ultimately hopeful, Talking to Strangers is nothing less than a manifesto for a revitalized democratic citizenry. , The Commentaries of Origen and Jerome on St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians Ronald E. Heine, 2002-12-05 These translations of fragments of Origen's Commentary on Ephesians and the complete text of Jerome's Commentary on Ephesians use collateral texts from other works of Origen, Jerome, and Rufinus to show Jerome's dependence on Origen in numerous passages of his own commentary. London and Literature, 1603-1901 Angela Kikue Davenport, Yui Nakatsuma, Barnaby Ralph, 2017-01-06 London and Literature, 1603-1901 brings together papers by scholars and researchers interested in British literature of the period covered. It will be of value to the many students and colleagues of the contributors as well as people connected with or influenced by the work of Eiichi Hara. This volume covers literature from the beginning of the Jacobean period to the end of the Victorian era. It takes the city of London as its focus, and the chapters explore different aspects of the interaction of literature and place, covering works by major figures within the time period. This connection is doubly significant as the book is also a Festschrift to celebrate the career of Eiichi Hara, the most renowned Dickensian in Japan and a scholar with a particular interest in London. With a preface by Gerald Dickens, the great-grandson of Charles Dickens, and a foreword by Toru Sasaaki, President of the English Literary Society of Japan, London and Literature, 1603-1901 brings together leading scholars in the field of English literature to offer a series of valuable perspectives on the city and its artistic life. Contestatory Cosmopolitanism Tom Bailey, 2018-10-11 Contemporary global politics poses urgent challenges, from humanitarian, migratory, and environmental problems to economic, religious, and military conflicts that strain not only existing political systems and resources but also the frameworks and concepts of political thinking. The standard cosmopolitan response is to invoke a sense of global community governed by such principles.

as human rights or humanitarianism free or fair trade global equality multiculturalism or extra national democracy Yet the contours grounds and implications of such a global community remain notoriously controversial and it risks abstracting precisely from the particular and conflictual character of the challenges which global politics poses The contributions to this collection undertake to develop a more fruitful cosmopolitan response to global political challenges one that roots cosmopolitanism in the particularity and conflict of global politics itself They argue that this contestatory cosmopolitanism must be dialectical agonistic and democratic that is its concepts and principles must be developed immanently and critically out of prevailing normative resources they must reflect and acknowledge their antagonistic roots and they must be the result of participatory and self determining publics In elaborating this alternative the contributions also return to neglected cosmopolitan theorists like Hegel Adorno Arendt Camus Derrida and Mouffe and reconsider mainstream figures such as Kant and Habermas This collection was originally published as a special edition of Critical Horizons

Citizenship Rights Igor Štiks, 2017-05-15 In today's world all claims tend to be founded on or justified by rights be they political social economic or private The ubiquity of this discourse has led to a blurring of the definition of what exactly constitutes rights not to mention a blurring of the boundaries between different bundles of rights their sources and the various institutional practices through which they are enjoyed or asserted Particular attention needs to be paid to the category of citizenship rights Exactly how are they distinguished from human rights This volume presents some of the most important reflections and studies on citizenship rights both past and present The contributions provide both thorough description and incisive analysis and place the question of citizenship rights into a wider historical social and political perspective As such it offers a timely introduction to the current debates surrounding the rights and duties of both citizens and non citizens alike with a focus on the many ways in which citizenship is contested in the contemporary world The volume is invaluable to scholars and students of citizenship studies political and critical theory human rights sociology urban development and law
