Dilemmas in the Study of Information Mary Neill, 1992-01-27 This thought provoking book identifies the limits of the field of information science and thus raises very real problems of the discipline in the context of people using misusing and abusing information S D Neill provides many examples of the uses of information to illustrate how difficult it is to work with In particular he highlights problems of information scientists using information to study information It is the author's contention that information use problems are in certain instances insoluble dilemmas for they are grounded in human nature and can be solved only by altering that nature Neill analyzes certain events to show that while sufficient information was available it wasn't used either because of greed personality or judgement Information is power if and only if you have enough knowledge to understand it the will to use it and the ability to communicate it The dilemmas are found in the control of information for retrieval the use of data originally collected for other purposes and research methods in library and information science

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2003 Methodologies of Embodiment Mia Perry, Carmen Liliana

Medina, 2015-07-24 This volume is dedicated to exploring and exposing the challenges the possibilities and the processes of empirical work in embodiment Grounded in qualitative inquiry in the humanities and social sciences the chapters describe perspectives and contexts of embodied research but focus on the methodologies methods and analytic frames taken up to grapple with this ever more theorised aspect of qualitative inquiry The authors drawn together in this volume share an investment in the ways in which the body inscribes and is inscribed within research that foregrounds the cultural social affective and political discourses that are at the core of how bodies act and are acted upon

Awareness shaping or shaped by prediction and postdiction Yuki Yamada, Takahiro Kawabe, 2015-06-08 We intuitively believe that we are aware of the external world as it is Unfortunately this is not entirely true In fact the capacity of our sensory system is too small to veridically perceive the world To overcome this problem the sensory system has to spatiotemporally integrate neural signals in order to interpret the external world However the spatiotemporal integration involves severe neural latencies How does the sensory system keep up with the ever changing external world As later discussed prediction and postdiction are essential keywords here For example the sensory system uses temporally preceding events to predict subsequent events e g Nijhawan 1994 Kerzel 2003 Hubbard 2005 even when the preceding event is subliminally presented Schmidt 2000 Moreover internal prediction modulates the perception of action outcomes Bays et al 2005 Cardoso Leite et al 2010 and sense of agency Wenke et al 2010 Prediction is also an indispensable factor for movement planning and control Kawato 1999 On the other hand the sensory system also makes use of subsequent events to postdictively interpret a preceding event e g Eagleman Enns 2002 Khuu et al 2010 Kawabe 2011 2012 Miyazaki et al 2010 Ono Lau et al 2007 How prediction and postdiction shape awareness of the external world is an intriguing question Prediction is involved with the encoding of incoming signals whereas postdiction is related to a re interpretation of already encoded signals Given this perspective prediction and postdiction may exist along a processing stream for a single external event However it is unclear whether and if so how prediction and postdiction interact with each other to shape awareness of the external world Awareness of the external world may also shape prediction and or postdiction It is plausible that awareness of the external world drives the prediction and postdiction of future and past appearances of the world However the literature provides little information about the role of awareness of the external world in prediction and postdiction This background propelled us to propose this research topic with the aim of offering a space for systematic discussion concerning the relationship between awareness prediction and postdiction among researchers in broad research areas such as psychology psychophysics neuroscience cognitive science philosophy and so forth We encouraged papers that address one or more of the following questions 1 How does prediction shape awareness of the external world 2 How does postdiction shape awareness of the external world 3 How do prediction and postdiction interact with each other in shaping awareness of the external world 4 How does awareness of the external world shape prediction postdiction

Experientia, Volume 1 Frances Flannery, Colleen Shantz, Rodney Alan Werline, 2008 The Paradox of Self-consciousness José Luis Bermúdez, 2000 In this book Jos Luis Berm dez addresses two fundamental problems in the philosophy and psychology of self consciousness 1 Can we provide a noncircular account of fully fledged self conscious thought and language in terms of more fundamental capacities 2 Can we explain how fully fledged self conscious thought and language can arise in the normal course of human development Berm dez argues that a paradox the paradox of self consciousness arises from the apparent strict interdependence between self conscious thought and linguistic self reference The paradox renders circular all theories that define self consciousness in terms of linguistic mastery of the first person pronoun It seems to follow from the paradox of self consciousness that no such account or explanation can be given Drawing on recent work in empirical psychology and philosophy the author argues that any explanation of fully fledged self consciousness that answers these two questions requires attention to primitive forms of self consciousness that are prelinguistic and preconceptual Such primitive forms of self consciousness are to be found in somatic proprioception the structure of exteroceptive perception and prelinguistic forms of social interaction The author uses these primitive forms of self consciousness to dissolve the paradox of self consciousness and to show how the two questions can be given an affirmative answer
