

The background of the cover features a sepia-toned illustration of three boys engaged in a mechanical project. One boy on the left stands with his hands on his hips, observing. The boy in the center is bent over, working on a large, complex structure that resembles a model airplane or a mechanical device. The boy on the right is also bent over, assisting with the project. In the background, there are sketches of trees and a building, suggesting an outdoor workshop or schoolyard setting.
