Surface Tension Poems:

Surface Tension and Other Poems David James Murray, 2008-11-14 The 145 short poems in this volume deal with certain problems concerning human relationships that seem particularly frequent in the western industrialized world at the present time The volume starts with a collection of 117 poems entitled SURFACE TENSION Monologues in which the author relates his inner states of emotion to events in Nature are alternated with shorter and more lyrical poems In the first movement the sea is used to symbolize conflicts between men and women in a partnership In the second movement the earth is used to symbolize conflicts within an individual over how far he or she should allow intellectual concerns to win out over romantic concerns or vice versa In the third movement air and sky are used to symbolize the states of relative peace interspersed with moments of storm that can arise in a relationship between two people with similar ideals In the second collection entitled MISCELLANEOUS POEMS the unifying undercurrent is the poet's interest in how his own romantic conflicts influence the style and form of the individual poems associated with those conflicts

Surface Tension Derek Beaulieu, 2022-09-06 Typography meets poetry at a Pink Floyd laser light show In Surface Tension poetry is liquefied Flowing away from meaning letters and words gather and pool into puddles of poetry street signs and logos reflected in the oily sheen of polluted gutters of rainwater Like a funhouse mirror reflecting the language that surrounds us the pages drip over the margins suggesting that Madge was right we are soaking in it Surface Tension updates visual poetry for our post pandemic age asking us rethink the verbiage around us to imagine letters as images instead of text to find meaning in their beautiful shapes as Beaulieu stretches torques slides blurs and melts them into Dali esque collages Not words letters not letters shapes not shapes figures not figures ciphers not ciphers ornaments not ornaments decoration not decoration semiotics not semiotics communicative possibilities not vagrant potential slowly forming inflection not melting deflection language as dance in out upside down flapping flipping all ways round Charles Bernstein recipient 2019 Bollingen Prize for American Poetry The striking compositions you'll find in Surface Tension are being presented sequentially in book form yet that they wouldn't be out of place hanging on the wall goes without saying Beaulieu swerves Gomerlinger when writing that Readability is the key like a logo a poem should be instantly recognizable yet to this reader these works merit sustained and enthusiastic viewing precisely because they teeter on the edge of legibility The kinetic glitchy quality of their alphabetic strangeness keeps them unrecognizable as poems and here that is poetry as I need it to quote Cage Think of them as anti advertisings selling you nothing but bountiful manifestations of the irreducible plasticity of numbers punctuation marks and letter forms No logos Mónica de la Torre Madelon Leventhal Rand Endowed Chair in Literature Brooklyn College co editor of Women in Concrete Poetry 1959-1979 With his distinctive visual palindromes and angled axes of symmetry Derek Beaulieu has developed a signature mastery of Letraset leveraging the twentieth century technology as a vehicle for bringing concrete poetry into the twenty first century With Surface Tension

Black Hole and Other Poems David J. Murray, 2012-02-03 Black Hole and Other Poems a new compilation of verse by poet David Murray focuses on the role played by hunger for power in reducing the success of heterosexual romantic relationships Divided into four parts this collection explores the topic in a wide variety of styles and approaches The first part of the collection Poems in a Lighter Vein interprets the familiar vampire story as being an allegory of common male fantasies of having power over many brides and most of its verses are satirical in nature The second part Black Hole contains examples based upon Murrays experiences of the personal power all too easily abused exerted by men over women Treading Water the third part describes Murrays feelings when he found himself forced to compete with a male rival to see which of the two could exert the most power over a particular females affections In the fourth and final part Bagatelles each poem attempts to arouse in only two lines core emotional responses of the kind that are usually assumed to require longer poems Satirical gutsy and succinct by turns this book explores the role of power in sexual relationships and the varying aspects of that power

Murray, 2009-05-07 Written with language that works in harmony with the rhythm of the poems seasoned poet David J Murray offers his third collection of work in War Wise and Other Poems Presented in two parts the first set War Wise contains thirty five poems reflecting Murrays memories of life in Manchester England during World War II a war that began when he was two years old Emitting clear and powerful imagery some of the titles are straightforward narrative Others are more reflective and address the effect the Holocaust had on his eight year old mind In Ghosts Murray combines the innocence of childhood with the violence of war In Sunday School we sometimes drew Pictures whose innocence shone through The spattered lines of gunshot fire That dotted and dashed each page entire Until on the page a Messerschmidt Was finally and firmly hit And fell in flames into the blue Of our crayond sea we drew no crew The second collection One Hundred Mood Studies contains a set of short stand alone rhymed sonnets each expressing a modern day emotional conflict Exercises in the craft of formal writing these poems provide an outlet for everyday shifts in emotions
