The Bayeux Tapestry John F. Szabo, Nicholas E. Kuefler, 2015-06-18

Commanding its own museum and over 200 years of examination, observation, and scholarship, the monumental embroidery known popularly as the Bayeux Tapestry and documenting William the Conqueror's invasion of England in October 1066 is perhaps the most important surviving artifact of the Middle Ages. This magnificent textile, both celebrated and panned, is both enigmatic artwork and confounding historical record. With over 1780 entries, Szabo and Kuefler offer the largest and most heavily annotated bibliography on the Tapestry ever written. Notably the Bayeux Tapestry has produced some of the most compelling questions of the medieval period: Who commissioned it and for what purpose? What was the intended venue for its display? Who was the designer and who executed the enormous task of its manufacture? How does it inform our understanding of eleventh century life? And who was the mysterious Aelfgyva depicted in the Tapestry's main register? This book is an effort to capture and describe the scholarship that attempts to answer these questions. But the bibliography also reflects the popularity of the Tapestry in literature, covering a surprisingly broad array of subjects. The inclusion of this material will assist future scholars who may study references to the work in contemporary non-fiction and popular works, as well as use of the Bayeux Tapestry as a primary and secondary source in the classroom. The monographs, articles, and other works cited in this bibliography reflect dozens of research areas. Major themes are the Tapestry as a source of information for eleventh century material culture, its role in telling the story of the Battle of Hastings and events leading up to the invasion, patronage of the Tapestry, biographical detail on known historical figures in the Tapestry, arms and armor, medieval warfare strategy and techniques, opus anglicanum, the Anglo-Saxon needlework tradition, preservation and display of the artifact, the Tapestry's place in medieval art, the embroidery's depiction of medieval and Romanesque architecture, and the life of the Bayeux Tapestry itself.

Littell's Living Age Eliakim Littell, Robert S. Littell, 1852      Littell's Living Age, 1852      Myth and National Identity in Nineteenth-Century

Britain Stephanie Barczewski, 2000-03-02 Scholars have become increasingly interested in how modern national consciousness comes into being through fictional narratives. Literature is of particular importance to this process for it is responsible for tracing the nation's evolution through glorious tales of its history. In nineteenth-century Britain, the legends of King Arthur and Robin Hood played an important role in the construction of contemporary national identity. These two legends provide excellent windows through which to view British culture because they provide very different perspectives King Arthur and Robin Hood have traditionally been diametrically opposed in terms of their ideological orientation The former is a king a man at the pinnacle of the social and political hierarchy whereas the latter is an outlaw and is therefore completely outside conventional hierarchical structures The fact that two such different figures could simultaneously function as British national heroes suggests that nineteenth century British nationalism did not represent a single set of values and ideas but rather that it was forced to assimilate a variety of competing points of view
