Munson, 2013-10-29 The Nature of Christianity in Northern Tanzania explores the relationship between the region's environment and social change during the pivotal often overlooked German colonial period 1890-1916 The work connects changes in the landscape order and biogeography closely with the beginning Christianization of the three groups on the mountains the Chagga on Mt Kilimanjaro and the Meru and Arusha peoples of Mt Meru The work tells a story which is ordered green and Christian It looks at both new ideas and plants brought by the Germans to their colony in East Africa The introduced German like order and the exotic plants changed the landscape during the short period of German rule However the changes taking root in the African societies driven primarily by the introduction of Christianity led to an acceptance and adaptation of these imports Religious change is one of the most profound elements of social change and it deeply impacted the world view of the Chagga Meru and Arusha peoples Within all three groups their worldview was closely tied to religion there is no difference between the natural and social spheres nor the religious and secular worlds In the interaction between the German and Africans the ideas use of plants and even Christianity became altered Africanized and finally propagated by the African groups helping to create the new African European landscape This heritage lives on up till today growing on the landscape nurtured by the changes in the societies of the Chagga Meru and Arusha peoples on Mt Kilimanjaro and Mt Meru The Rough Guide to Tanzania Jens Finke, 2010-01-04 The Rough Guide to Tanzania is the definitive guide to one of Africa's most beautiful destinations with clear maps and detailed coverage of all the best attractions from climbing Mount Kilimanjaro to the exotic Indian Ocean beaches of Zanzibar You'll also find an in depth guide to Tanzania's spectacular wildlife and national parks and the most accurate map of the magically labyrinthine Stone Town

The Modern African State Godfrey Mwakikagile,2001 This book examines the modern African State as a fragile institution because of its structural flaws It focuses on a number of African countries whose combined analyses provide a focal point for looking at the whole continent as one giant place with crumbling state institutions whose fragility threatens the very existence of several African countries Even in rich African countries peace and stability is threatened and rampant corruption and dictatorship Nothing better demonstrates the weakness and cruelty of the modern African State than its willingness to instigate tribal violence in a number of African countries and its inability to contain such hostilities in many others In an attempt to put such weakness in proper perspective the author focuses on analyses of case studies as the context for a better understanding of the modern African State as the most dominant institution on the African continent 50

Years of Central Banking in Kenya Patrick Njoroge,Victor Murinde,2021 This book documents important milestones in the epic journey traversed by the Central Bank of Kenya over the last 50 years putting into perspective the evolution of central banking globally and within the East African region and contemplating future prospects and challenges The book is timely mainly because the global financial landscape has shifted Central bankers have expanded their mandates beyond the singular focus on inflation and consider economic growth as their other important objective Financial crises have continued to disrupt the functioning of financial institutions and markets the most devastating episodes being the global financial crisis which broke out in 2008 and from which the global financial system has not fully recovered and the unprecedented challenges posed by the global coronavirus pandemic Bank regulation has moved from Basel I to Basel II and somehow migrated to Basel III although some countries are still at the cross roads The book originated from the wide ranging discussions on central banking from a symposium to celebrate the 50 year anniversary on 13 September 2016 in Nairobi The participants at the symposium included current and former central bank governors from Kenya and the Eastern Africa region high level officials from multilateral financial institutions policy makers bank executives civil society actors researchers and students The book is an invaluable resource for policy makers practitioners and researchers on how monetary policy and financial practices in vogue today in Kenya have evolved through time and worked very well but also about some pitfalls

Pan-African Issues in Drugs and Drug Control Anita Kalunta-Crumpton,2016-03-03 Popular war on drugs rhetoric postulates drug use in the West as the product of the drug production and trafficking roles of non western societies and non western peoples within and outside the West In such rhetoric African societies and people of African descent in Africa and in Diaspora have received criticisms for their respective roles in drug production and drug trafficking including the position of many African countries as transit routes for drugs exported to the West By contrast the abuse of drugs by populations of African origin around the globe and the harmful consequences of the drug trade and drug abuse on these populations has been little studied Drawing on contributions from seven countries in Africa two countries in Europe and seven countries in the Americas this volume examines the relationships between drug use drug trafficking drug controls and the black population of a given society Each chapter examines the nature and pattern of drug use or abuse the effects of drug use or abuse illegal or and legal on other areas such as health and crime the nature pattern and perpetration of trafficking and sale of illegal or and legal drugs and past and current policies and control of illegal and or legal drugs It will be essential reading for all students academics and policy makers working in the area of drug control

Conflict in the African Great Lakes Region Ladislav Bizimana, 1999 Any analysis aimed at coming up with strategies to positively transform a conflict has first to identify all the actors involved and interests pursued either individually or collectively This rule applies best to protracted conflicts like the one under scrutiny In this research study Ladislav Bizimana tries to answer the most fundamental question Who has been doing what why how in the bloody conflict that continues to plunge the peoples of the African Great Lakes region into mourning In doing so Ladislav draws upon both his personal experience and professional background As a Rwandan who lived through and survived the 1994 Rwandan horror Ladislav speaks from within This matchless insightful and compelling testimony is enriched by his being a former TV and Radio reporter working for humanitarian agencies in the African Great Lakes region 1994 1995 Tanzania Christopher Adam, Paul Collier, B. J. Ndulu, 2017 This volume examines key policy challenges facing Tanzania over the coming decades in the areas of agriculture trade urbanization employment finance and natural investment Measuring Food Security Using Household Expenditure Surveys Lisa C. Smith, Ali Subandoro, 2007-01-01 Rwandan Refugee Camps in Zaire and Tanzania 1994-1995 Laurence Binet, 2016-05-18 The Rwandan refugee camps in Zaire Tanzania 1994 1995 case study is describing the constraints and dilemmas met by MSF when confronted with camps under the tight control of refugee leaders responsible for the genocide of the Rwandan Tutsis from April to June 1994 The camps were transformed into rear bases from which the reconquest of Rwanda was sought via a massive diversion of aid violence propaganda and threats against refugees wishing to repatriate Was it acceptable for MSF to assist people who had committed genocide Should MSF accept that its aid was instrumentalised by leaders who used violence against the refugees and proclaim their intention to continue the war in order to complete the genocide they had started For all that could MSF renounce assisting a population in distress and on what basis should its arguments be founded Encyclopedia of the Peoples of Africa and the Middle East Jamie Stokes, 2009 Encyclopedia of the Peoples of Africa and the Middle East is a two volume A to Z reference to the history and culture of the peoples of Africa and the Middle East

International trade and recovery strategies in Kenya in the context of COVID-19 Tabitha Kiriti-Nganga, 2022 COVID 19 led to an economic downturn not only in Kenya but also in the rest of the world. It put these countries into a recession as a result of the measures taken by trading partners to prevent the spread of the virus. This meant that the Kenyan needed to come up with monetary and fiscal policies and strategies to maintain macroeconomic and fiscal stability as well as accelerate the pace of economic growth by achieving resilience and sustainability of economic growth and development. This book uses both descriptive and econometric methodologies that can easily be understood by scholars using quality data from credible sources such as the Kenyan National Bureau of Statistics, the Ministry of Health, World Bank, World Trade Organization and the International Monetary Fund. The book can be used as reference material for both post and undergraduate students interested in international trade. The policies and strategies proposed can be used by scholars in researching ways to deal with not only the current pandemic but also future pandemics.

Tanzania David Lawrence, 2009 This is a general introduction to Tanzania. It is also a look at Tanzania from a contemporary and historical perspective. The focus is on Tanzania today. Some of the major political, economic and social developments which have taken place in the country especially since the seventies also constitute a significant part of the book. The book is intended for those who are going to Tanzania for the first time and for anybody else who wants to learn some basic facts about the largest country in East Africa. Readers are also going to learn quite a few things about the people of Tanzania and their tribes or ethnic groups and where these groups traditionally live. Also covered in the book are the towns and cities in all the provinces of this large country. The purpose is to provide a comprehensive picture of the country by focusing on a number of areas including a general background of Tanzania, the geography of the country, life in Tanzania today and how life was in the seventies and eighties under socialism known as ujamaa which means familyhood in Kiswahili, the country's transition from socialism to a free market economy, ethnic groups or tribes and their home districts and regions, racial minorities who constitute a significant part of Tanzania's population, the Swahili people and their culture, towns and cities, the union of Tanganyika and Zanzibar and its prospects and challenges and life in Tanzania in what was then Tanganyika in the fifties just before independence. There are also chapters on Dar es Salaam, the nation's largest city and commercial centre and former capital, and on the former island nation of Zanzibar. Tanzania also is unique in one fundamental respect. It is the only union of two independent countries ever formed on the African continent. And it is the only one that exists today almost half a century after it was formed. The union between Tanganyika and Zanzibar is one of the subjects covered in the book and readers are going to learn about one of the most important events in the history of post colonial Africa on a continent where the quest for unity has remained an elusive dream since independence in the fifties and sixties. The book also includes a lot of information on Tanganyika just before independence and how it became one of the first countries in Africa to emerge from colonial rule. Also included is some material on one of the most interesting ethnic groups in African history and how it came into being. It is the Swahili whose language is also known as Swahili especially among many people around the world who are not native speakers of the language Among the native speakers the language is called Kiswahili It s the main language spoken in Tanzania and Kenya It s also spoken in several other countries in east central Africa And we are going to learn something about this language which transcends ethnicity Kiswahili is not identified with any African tribe making it a truly Pan African language building bridges across ethnicity cultures and nations especially in the eastern part of the continent And as you learn about Tanzania you are also going to learn a few things about an area bigger than Tanzania because of the country s connection to other parts of East Africa and beyond

Bananas and Plantains S. Gowen,2012-12-06 In a field of mature bananas plants can be seen at all stages of vegetative growth and fruit maturity providing a fascination for anyone who has an interest in growing crops Banana farmers in the tropics can harvest fruit every day of the year The absence of seasonality in production is an advantage in that it provides a continuity of carbohydrate to meet dietary needs as well as a regular source of income a feature that perhaps has been under estimated by rural planners and agricultural strategists The burgeoning interest in bananas in the last 20 years results from the belated realization that Musa is an under exploited genus notwithstanding the fact that one genetically narrow group the Cavendish cultivars supply a major export commodity second only to citrus in terms of the world fruit trade International research interest in the diversity of fruit types has been slow to develop presumably because bananas and plantains have hitherto been regarded as a reliable backyardsource of dessert fruit or starch supplying the needs of the household and in this situation relatively untroubled by pests diseases or agronomic problems

Tanzania John Ndembwike,2009-10 This is an introduction to Tanzania The focus is on the land and its people and how they live The work also looks at Tanzania s demographic composition and the ethnic identities of the people who constitute the largest and most populous country in East Africa The book is intended for members of the general public including tourists It s also good for students who want to learn about Tanzania from a contemporary and historical perspective The work provides basic information for those who are going to Tanzania and who intend to spend some time in a country that s one of the prime destinations for people from all parts of the world visiting the African continent

Africa at the End of the Twentieth Century Godfrey Mwakikagile,2013-07 The author looks at Africa at the end of the twentieth century and the challenges the continent faces in the twentieth first in terms of development governance and conflict resolution The author also re examines the concepts of sovereignty and the nation state and their relevance to Africa and proposes restructuring the modern African state to reflect African realities and accommodate conflicting interests political regional and ethnic among others to achieve and maintain peace and stability in the quest for development He also looks at the highly centralised state and whether or not federalism redefined to suit African conditions and incorporating traditional institutions of governance provides a better alternative to centralised authority so typical of most countries across the continent He proposes a new form of federalism which addresses problems arising from ethnicity and regionalism He also contends that there is an imperative need for Africans to return to their roots in order to revive and use their traditional institutions and indigenous knowledge to achieve peace justice stability and progress in the 21st century instead of relying on imported ideologies which have done more harm than good to Africa and are not even modified to suit African conditions Botswana stands out in that regard It has used its traditional institutions very well such as kgotla in resolving conflicts and making community decisions on other matters on consensus basis As the Tswana say the highest form of war is dialogue The author also looks at devolution as a means to achieve true democracy and as a tool in conflict management and resolution in countries where some groups especially ethnoregional feel they are marginalised by the central government dominated by a few individuals or rival ethnic groups He also addresses regional integration versus secession and contends that although there may have been some secessionist movements in the post colonial era which were justified Katanga was not one of them he maintains the future of Africa lies not in secession but in regional integration and formation of federations Africa has experienced both integration and secession and may still face secession in some parts of the continent in the future if the leaders involved do not address the grievances of their people especially ethnic and regional groups which are marginalised The author states that there may even be a need for another Berlin conference but this time one that is organised by the Africans themselves and only for Africans to redraw the map of Africa and resolve territorial and ethnoregional disputes and conflicts caused by the boundaries which were imposed on Africans by the imperial powers to suit their own interests totally ignoring the indigenous people as if they did not even exist The book also provides a theoretical framework for further research and rigorous analysis and for devising innovative solutions to Africa s multi faceted problems although the author has avoided delving into abstract concepts since the purpose of his work is to involve everybody not just academics in finding solutions to the problems the continent will continue to face in the twentieth first century A History of Water, Series

III, Volume 2: Sovereignty and International Water Law Terje Tvedt,Tadesse Kasse Woldetsadik,Owen

McIntyre,2015-05-30 As global climate change threatens to change radically both the political and physical climate with regard to water issues so a reassessment of some of the fundamental principles of international water law is emerging One of the most important principles being reassessed is the sovereign equality of states This volume brings together more than thirty leading international water and legal specialists to explore the development and changing relationship between water state sovereignty and international law Offering fresh insights into one of the most pressing issues in global water policy Sovereignty and International Water Law will form an essential reference for water professionals legal specialists and policy makers alike International Law Decisions in National Courts Thomas Franck,Gregory Fox,2023-09-20 In this ground breaking study taken on the initiative of U S Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O Connor Thomas M Franck and Gregory H Fox explore the use of international law decisions by national courts providing in depth materials for answers to such critical and practical questions as To what extent do national judges treat the decisions of their international colleagues as binding or persuasive Do national judges regard the outcomes of international decisions as res judicata As evidence of law or fact
