Taste And The Antique The Lure Of Classical Sculpture 1500 1900:

Taste and the Antique Francis Haskell, Nicholas Penny, 2016 For several hundred years until about 1900 a limited number of antique sculptures were as much admired as are the Mona Lisa Botticelli's Birth of Venus or Michelangelo's David today They were reproduced in marble bronze and lead as plaster casts in academies and art schools as porcelain figurines for chimneypieces and as cameos for bracelets and snuffboxes They were celebrated by poets from Du Bellay and Marino to Byron and D Annunzio and memorably evoked by novelists as diverse as Marcel Proust and Nathaniel Hawthorne George Eliot and Charles Dickens Copies of some of these statues can be seen at Pavlosk and Madrid at Stourhead Charlottenburg Malibu and Versailles and in countless gardens houses and museums throughout the world How and when did these particular sculptures achieve such a special status Who were the collectors restorers dealers artists dilettanti scholars and archaeologists who created their reputations Under what names often wildly fanciful did they first become famous How were they interpreted and how and when and why did their glamour begin to wane These are some of the problems that are confronted in Taste and the Antique Taste and the Antique has become a classic of art history since its original publication in 1981 This revised and amplified edition significantly updates the information based on new research undertaken in the last several decades as well as expanding examples of the reception and influence of these works by artists and collectors from the Renaissance through to contemporary art The original edition has been expanded into three volumes Volume 1 is a revised and amplified version of the 1981 edition Fifteen chapters trace in narrative form with the support of a wide variety of plates the rise and decline of this highly important episode in the history of taste These chapters are followed by catalogue entries for 95 of the most celebrated sculptures all of them illustrated which provide information on when and where they were discovered changes of ownership and nomenclature as well as a record of varying critical fortunes designed to complement the more general discussion in the earlier chapters Volume 2 contains especially commissioned new photography of over 90 statues catalogued in Volume 1 Volume 3 is entirely devoted to a visual survey of the full range of replicas and adaptations of the works catalogued and illustrated in the previous volumes The book is indispensable for historians of taste and to art historians concerned with the debt owed by numerous artists from the Renaissance onwards to the art of ancient Greece and Rome and it is also of great value to students and collectors of the many surviving copies of the sculptures discussed discusses sculptural works both architectural and free standing from approximately 100 B C to the Battle of Actium 31 B C which removed from power the last Hellenistic ruler Although some monuments may belong to the years just before or just after this timespan Ridgway's aim is to concentrate on works plausibly dated to the first century B C even those with highly controversial chronologies Famous sculptures the Laocoon the epic groups from the Sperlonga cave the Belvedere Torso the bronze Boxer in the Terme Museum and many others are discussed together with less well known pieces Ridgway gives special emphasis to the finds from two shipwrecks the Mahdia and the Antikythera wrecks that provide a reasonable terminus ante quem and argues that many of the stylistic trends and decorative objects usually considered typically Roman instead have their roots in the Greek world This last Hellenistic phase is perhaps the most interesting of the three because it documents to a great extent the transformation of the products of one culture into those of another with different interests and priorities Far from being an unimaginative inferior output driven by commercial considerations the statuary of the first century B C is vibrant and inventive drawing from many sources in a stylistic eclecticism degrees of destruction by spectacular acts of defacement demolition discarding or neglect They also shed light on the accompanying discourses regarding aesthetic ideals political ideologies educational and scholarly practices or race With destruction being understood as a critical part of reception the histories of cast collections defy the traditional homogenous narrative of rise and decline Their diverse histories provide critical evidence for rethinking the use and display of plaster cast collections in the contemporary moment      Encyclopedia of the Romantic Era, 1760-1850 Christopher John

Eighteenth century Britain saw an explosion of interest in its own past a past now expanded to include more than classical history and high politics Antiquaries men interested in all aspects of the past added a distinctive new dimension to literature in Georgian Britain in their attempts to reconstruct and recover the past Corresponding and publishing in an extended network antiquaries worked at preserving and investigating records and physical remains in England Scotland and Ireland In doing so they laid solid foundations for all future study in British prehistory archaeology and numismatics and for local and national history as a whole Naturally they saw the past partly in their own image While many antiquaries were better at fieldwork and recording than at synthesis most were neither crabbed eccentrics nor dilettanti At their best as in the works of Richard Gough or William Stukeley antiquaries set new standards of accuracy and perception in fields ranging from the study of the ancient Britons to that of medieval architecture Antiquaries is the definitive account of a great historical enterprise
