Geomorphological Hazards and Disaster Prevention Irasema Alcántara-Ayala,Andrew S. Goudie,2010-03-04 Human activities have had a huge impact on the environment and landscape through industrialisation and land use change leading to climate change deforestation desertification land degradation and air and water pollution These impacts are strongly linked to the occurrence of geomorphological hazards such as floods landslides snow avalanches soil erosion and others Geomorphological work includes not only the understanding but the mapping and modelling of Earth s surface processes many of which directly affect human societies In addition geomorphologists are becoming increasingly involved with the dimensions of societal problem solving through vulnerability analysis hazard and risk assessment and management The work of geomorphologists is therefore of prime importance for disaster prevention An international team of geomorphologists have contributed their expertise to this volume making this a scientifically rigorous work for a wide audience of geomorphologists and other Earth scientists including those involved in environmental science hazard and risk assessment management and policy

Site Characterization in Karst and Pseudokarst Terraines

Richard C. Benson, Lynn B. Yuhr, 2015-09-24 This book provides a practical strategy for obtaining a more complete and accurate geologic site characterization The strategy and methods to characterize complex geologic settings are readily available The strategy utilizes readily available technology basic science and good old fashioned common sense resulting in a solid understanding of geologic and even karst or pseudokarst conditions We provide an introduction to many off the shelf methods available for site characterization as well as examples of their application throughout the book The purpose of a geologic site characterization is to understand the 3 dimensional geologic framework along with the engineering and hydrologic properties of a site including any man made impacts A well done site characterization is the cornerstone of all geotechnical groundwater and environmental projects The geologic conditions particularly karst conditions can significantly impact a site including its structural stability groundwater pathways and potential for rapid transport or traps for contaminants Once we have adequately characterized the geologic conditions can we carry our remediation design and construction model flow and make risk assessments that are accurate and reliable
