Plug&Play Places Robert Nadler,2014-10-08 In post industrial societies more and more people earn an income in creative knowledge work a highly flexible labour market segment that demands a geographically mobile workforce Creative knowledge work is based on an understanding of language culture and symbolic meanings This can best be obtained through local and national embeddedness Yet this necessity for embeddedness stands in contrast to the demand in geographical mobility How is this contradiction solved by individuals What new forms of place attachment does this bring about This book introduces a showcase of 25 multilocal creative knowledge workers who live in different countries at the same time It investigates how continuous mobility becomes part of their lifeworld and how it changes their feelings of belonging and practices of place attachment Applying an innovative methodological mix of social phenomenology hermeneutics and mental mapping this book takes a detailed look at biographies and the role of places in mobile lifeworlds Plug Play Places brings forth the idea that places have to be understood as individual items which are configured and then plugged into the system of the own lifeworld They can be played without great effort once an individual needs to make use of them This new type of place attachment is a form of subjective standardization of place which complements the well known models of objective standardization of places Plug Play Places is relevant for scientists who deal with mobility and its impact on individual lifeworlds with transnational multilocality and with flexibilized labour markets Furthermore the book provides a detailed qualitative perspective which can enrich the explanations of quantitative research in the same field It is an interesting reading also for practitioners engaged in urban planning housing and real estate development Robert Nadler holds a doctoral degree in Urban and Local European Studies from the University of Milan Bicocca He is a researcher at the Leibniz Institute for Regional Geography and published on creative industries multilocality and labour mobility
