Excerpt from The Boy and His Gang: Sixty-six boys who were members of gangs are responsible for this book. They told me the stories of their gang life, and I wrote them out in the form illustrated in Chapter II. I showed these stories to President G. Stanley Hall, who asked me to present them in the Pedagogical Seminary, where an article appeared in June 1905. These original stories of Boys' Gangs and Boy Leaders later became the basis for a series of lectures on Boy Problems. In revising my material for book publication, many interesting criticisms by parents, teachers, and social workers in various sections of the country have been consciously or unconsciously incorporated into it. I have found a wide interest in and demand for such a book as this, bearing upon the group psychology of boyhood and a lamentable scarcity of readable literature on the subject.
