Ganten,D. Pfaff,2012-12-06 There is no doubt that a major problem of present day research workers especially in the life sciences is the plethora of publications of all kinds abstracts short communications full papers in journals of varying quality reviews and proceedings of symposia with in addition an unprecedented duplication of publications Even for experts working in the field it is almost impossible to keep an up to date view of all current research articles The Western grant and career system encourages scientists to publish as much as possible The editors and publishers of our new series are convinced that the format of Current Topics in Neuroendocrinology leads a way out of this confusion Each volume is conceived as a concise up to date textbook on one well defined and currently exciting subject Different from classic textbooks however the speed of publication compares favorably with that of many journals this ensures an immediacy which is im possible in textbooks On the other hand topics to be included in this series are also sufficiently reliable with enough work being done to treat them from several aspects Each volume will supply four to six chapters treating such a broad topic as neuroendocrinology from several points of view for example anatomic electrophysiologic endocrine and behavioral views Where clinical data are immediately available they will be included No other 360 pages treating the nervous or endocrine systems provides such a coordinated set of chapters on an interesting topic in each volume
