The Management Of Correctional Institutions:

The Management of Correctional Institutions Marilyn D. McShane, Franklin P. Williams, 1993 Section 1 pages 1 to 68 presents an overview of the literature on prison management and the results of a national survey of wardens which enquired into actual management styles problem solving techniques and decision making approaches The national survey aimed to determine how much the literature reflected the wardens management practices Findings showed that corrections management largely reflects the literature in that it has inconsistencies an emphasis on personnel experience and an inward focus These results were used to develop a perspective focusing on a humane and caring relationship between manager and staff Section 2 pages 72 to 301 contains abstracts of the 100 most important works both essay and research on correctional institution management

The Management of Correctional Institutions C. H. S. Jayewardene, D. J. N. Jayasuriya, 1981

Correctional Institutions Robert Melvin Carter, Daniel Glaser, Leslie T. Wilkins, 1977

This second edition of readings on correctional and penal institutions answers admirably the present need of the campus community for a general all purpose text and that of the correctional practitioner and administrator for an up to date review of the literature of the field For the nonprofessional interested citizen the anthology provides a general portrait of these institutions seen in both theoretical and practical perspectives Not only does this edition present an historical review of correctional and penal institutions and examine the current state of achievement but it serves a particular need in pointing to the requirements of the future

Foreword

Privatizing Correctional Institutions Gary W. Bowman, 2023-04-14

With more than one million people behind bars the United States imprisons a larger share of its population than any other industrialized nation This has precipitated a serious overcrowding problem with federal and state prisons currently operating well beyond capacity Conventional efforts appear unable to cope with the increasing shortage of beds or with inadequate rehabilitation services A bold solution is required increasingly it is being seen to reside in the private sector This timely volume explores the issues of private versus public financing construction and management of medium and high security prisons Private prisons are not a new concept in the United States They have existed in several forms since the eighteenth century The opening chapters evaluate historical cases of prisons for profit examining the concerns of labor abuses of inmates and the source and resolution of disputes between private and public sectors These chapters argue that the experience gained through privatization does not justify current opposition from civil libertarians or labor unions Chapters dealing with the modern contracting out of complete management and limited services document the growing trend toward privatization and instances of public private partnership in prison industries The assembled evidence indicates clearly that privately run prisons have shown significant cost savings and good quality of provision for prisoners while still being profitable However the authors caution that these promising results must be reinforced by public safeguards in the contracting stage and monitoring to assure good service and security With the American prison system in disarray the public interest demands that government look beyond the public or private identity of those who wish to provide correctional services and focus instead on who can provide the best services at a given cost It is essential to state that correctional services should attain several objectives and not merely cost minimization The analysis and recommendations presented here will aid in the task

Privatizing Correctional Institutions will be of interest to law enforcement officials public policy analysts penologists and criminologists
