The Magic Bed: A Book of East Indian Fairy-Tales

Various,2022-09-15 The Magic Bed is a collection of famous Indian fairy tales of varied authorship India is undoubtedly the home of the fairy tale Of those now in existence probably one third of such tales came from India Gypsies missionaries travelers and traders carried them to other countries where they were told and retold until much of their original form was obliterated and many of their titles lost The Jatakas or birth stories of Buddha form the earliest collection of fairy tales in the world It is from these and from others told by native nurses or ayahs to children in India where the belief in fairies gnomes ogres and monsters is still widespread that five stories most likely to interest young people have been selected to form this volume

Geospatial Algebraic Computations Joseph Awange,Béla Paláncz,2016-01-29 Improved geospatial instrumentation and technology such as in laser scanning has now resulted in millions of data being collected e.g. point clouds. It is in realization that such huge amount of data requires efficient and robust mathematical solutions that this third edition of the book extends the second edition by introducing three new chapters: Robust parameter estimation, Multiobjective optimization and Symbolic regression. Furthermore, the linear homotopy chapter is expanded to include nonlinear homotopy. These disciplines are discussed first in the theoretical part of the book before illustrating their geospatial applications in the applications chapters where numerous numerical examples are presented. The renewed electronic supplement contains these new theoretical and practical topics with the corresponding Mathematica statements and functions supporting their computations introduced and applied. This third edition is renamed in light of these technological advancements. Solving

Algebraic Computational Problems in Geodesy and Geoinformatics Joseph L. Awange, Erik W. Grafarend, 2005-08-29

While preparing and teaching Introduction to Geodesy I and II to undergraduate students at Stuttgart University we noticed a gap which motivated the writing of the present book. Almost every topic that we taught required some skills in algebra and in particular computer algebra. From positioning to transformation problems inherent in geodesy and geoinformatics, knowledge of algebra and application of computer algebra software were required. In preparing this book therefore we have attempted to put together basic concepts of abstract algebra which underpin the techniques for solving algebraic problems. Algebraic computational algorithms useful for solving problems which require exact solutions to nonlinear systems of equations are presented and tested on various problems. Though the present book focuses mainly on the two fields, the concepts and techniques presented herein are nonetheless applicable to other fields where algebraic computational problems might be encountered. In Engineering for example, network densification and robotics apply resection and intersection techniques which require algebraic solutions. Solution of nonlinear systems of equations is an indispensable task in almost all geosciences such as geodesy, geoinformatics, geophysics, just to mention but a few as well as robotics. These equations which require exact solutions underpin the operations of ranging, resection, intersection and other techniques that are normally used. Examples of problems that require exact solutions include three-dimensional resection problem for determining positions and orientation of sensors e.g. camera, theodolites, robots, scanners, etc. VIII Preface coordinate transformation to match shapes and sizes of points in different systems, mapping from topography to reference ellipsoid and analytical determination of refraction angles in GPS meteorology.

Children's Literature Comes of Age Maria Nikolajeva,2015-08-27 Originally published in 1996 A detailed analysis of the art of children s literature covering world literature for children children s literature as a canonical art form the history of children s literature from a semiotic perspective and epic polyphony chronotope intertextuality and metafiction in children s literature Orienting the Self Debra N. Prager,2014 Follows the evolution of the Orient as a positive literary device in German literature and demonstrates how it was used to explore subjectivity and the possibility of wholeness For centuries Europe s eastward gaze has been wary if not hostile Medieval man envisaged grotesque beings at the world s edge and scanned the steppes and straits on the immediate horizon for the Asian or Arab hordes that might swarm across them

Through the Crusades the early modern era and the age of imperialism Europeans regarded the Eastern subject as requiring both discovery and conquest Conveniently the Oriental came to represent fanaticism terrorism moral laxity and inscrutability among other stereotypes The list of German literary works that reinforced negative clichés about the East is long but Orienting the Self argues for the presence in the German literary tradition of a powerful perception of the East as the scene of desire fantasy and fulfillment It follows the evolution of the Orient as a literary device and demonstrates how it was used to explore subjectivity and the possibility of wholeness The five works treated in this study Parzival Fortunatus Effi Briest Heinrich von Ofterdingen and The Magic Mountain are narratives of development in which the encounter with the East is central to the progression toward selfhood and the promise of fulfillment Debra N Prager is Associate Professor of German at Washington and Lee University
