Bjorge, 2015-11-06 Includes the US Special Forces in World War II Illustrations Pack with 95 maps plans and photos Coalition warfare is generally a two edged sword When several countries join forces to fight a common enemy the weight of their combined effort can be overwhelming The effectiveness of this effort however can be dissipated or even rendered counterproductive if members of the coalition cannot find common ground among themselves on such vital issues as the nature and objectives of the war and the appropriate strategy command structure and methods for fighting it In this Special Study Dr Gary Bjorge of the Combat Studies Institute offers a case study in coalition warfare during the Second World War While the focus of his study is Merrill's Marauders his analysis offers a broader perspective on how coalition considerations affected strategy command and protocol and military operations and tactics in the China Burma India theater The lesson for today's professional officer is clear It may be the responsibility of the political authorities to fashion a wartime coalition but once in place the partnership will have an impact on military considerations from the strategic through the tactical levels Few officers involved in the combined effort will escape the fallout in one form or another from decisions made by the coalition leaders Officers must be prepared for this and Dr Bjorge's study is designed to assist in that preparation The China-Burma-India Campaign, 1931-1945 Eugene L. The Magic War Ian Fellowes-Gordon, 1972 This book describes the battle for North Burma during World War II which was fought by soldiers of many nationalities against the Japanese It was also a campaign by the Kachin tribesmen for their own liberation Commanding them were such men as Vinegar Joe Stillwell Sir William Slim Orde Wingate Phil Cochrane and Mad Mike Calvert officers who applied new methods to waging war on some of the worst terrain in the world The Kachins who had known almost nothing about modern technology dubbed it a Magic War as they encountered planes gliders huge airdrops and other mechanical wonders

Bjorge, 1996 A Historical Perspective on Light Infantry Scott Ray McMichael, 1987 This study seeks to clarify the nature of light infantry General characteristics of light infantry forces are identified and an analysis of how light forces operate tactically and how they are supported is presented In the process the relationship of the light infantry ethic to its organization is evaluated and the differences between light infantry and conventional infantry is illuminated For the purpose of this study the term conventional infantry refers to modern day motorized and mechanized infantry and to the large dismounted infantry forces typical of the standard infantry divisions of World War II the Korean War and the Vietnam War The study concludes that light infantry is unique and distinct A light infantry ethic exists and manifests itself in a distinctive tactical style in a special attitude toward the environment in a freedom from dependence on fixed lines of communication and in a strong propensity for self reliance The study is based on a historical analysis of 4 light infantry forces employed during and since World War II The Chindits in the 1944 Burma campaign against the Japanese The Chinese communist Forces during the Korean War British operations in Malaya and Borneo 1948 66 and the First Special Service Force in the mountains of Italy 1942 44 p 2 of cover
