think and feel through desire as central to their writing practice In a time of political social global and ecological unrest how might we understand desire the desire for things to be different the desire for a better world as a crucial dimension of contemporary human experience What might such a recentring of desire offer us personally and politically And how is writing itself as one of the primary ways through which we express and explore ourselves central to the expression and exploration of desire Drawing on recent theoretical work in queer theory and the new materialism Jonathan Alexander studies a range of queer and trans writers and artists who center desire in their practice and argues that conceptualizing writing as desire allows us to reexperience both writing and our world as saturated with our dreams and wishes for change In a book both elegant and unsettling and by turns personal analytic and experimental Alexander challenges us and himself to think about desire and writing as the deepest manifestation of our hopes for the future Umbrella ,2004 The JAB

Arthur Machen: 30+ Horror Classics, Supernatural Mysteries & Fantasy Books Arthur Machen, 2023-12-30 Arthur Machen 30 Horror Classics Supernatural Mysteries Fantasy Books is a comprehensive anthology that delves into the intricacies of the supernatural and the macabre within Machen's illustrious oeuvre. Renowned for his rich evocative prose, Machen masterfully weaves a tapestry of eerie landscapes, enigmatic rituals, and the unseen forces that permeate the mundane world. His works often reflect the fin de siècle preoccupations with spirituality, mysticism, and the potential horrors lurking within everyday life, positioning him as a pivotal figure in the development of 20th-century horror literature.

Arthur Machen (1863-1947), a Welsh author and mystic, drew inspiration from his own experiences in rural Wales, where folklore and ancient traditions shaped his worldview. His early engagement with both classical literature and esoteric writings imbued his narratives with philosophical depth, reflecting the tension between the natural and the supernatural. Adversity in his personal life and the loss of faith experienced during the industrial age also influenced his writing, rendering his horror not merely sensational but a profound exploration of the human psyche.

This collection is essential for readers and scholars alike, as it not only showcases Machen's rich imagination but also illuminates the evolution of horror as a genre. Whether a dedicated aficionado of supernatural tales or a newcomer to Machen's works, this anthology offers an unparalleled journey into the shadowy corners of existence that will leave readers pondering the thin veil between reality and the unknown.

Writing Out of Place Judith Fetterley, Marjorie Pryse, 2003 In a series of sketches, regionalist writers such as Alice Cary, Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, Sarah Orne Jewett, Grace King, Alice Dunbar Nelson, Sui Sin Far, and Mary Austin critique the approach to regional subjects characteristic of local color and present narrators who serve as cultural interpreters for persons often considered out of place by urban readers. In their approach to these writers, Fetterley and Pryse offer contemporary readers an alternative vantage point from which to consider questions of regions and regionalism in the global economy of our own time.
