Happiness Darrin M. McMahon, 2006 An intellectual history of man's most elusive yet coveted goal Today we think of happiness as a natural right but people haven't always felt this way Historian McMahon argues that our modern belief in happiness is a recent development the product of a revolution in human expectations carried out since the eighteenth century He investigates that fundamental transformation by synthesizing two thousand years of politics culture and thought In ancient Greek tragedy happiness was considered a gift of the gods During the Enlightenment men and women were first introduced to the novel prospect that they could in fact should be happy in this life as opposed to the hereafter This recognition of happiness as a motivating ideal led to its consecration in the Declaration of Independence McMahon then shows how our modern search continues to generate new forms of pleasure but also paradoxically new forms of pain
