Archaeology Under Water John M. McManamon, 2016-12-09 Sometime around 1446 A D Cardinal Prospero Colonna commissioned engineer Battista Alberti to raise two immense Roman vessels from the bottom of the lago di Nemi just south of Rome By that time local fishermen had been fouling their nets and occasionally recovering stray objects from the sunken ships for 800 years Having no idea of the size of the objects he was attempting to recover Alberti failed For most of the next 500 years various attempts were made to recover the vessels Finally in 1928 Mussolini ordered the draining of the lake to remove the vessels and place them on the lake shore In 1944 the ships burned in a fire that was generally blamed on the Germans John M McManamon connects these attempts at underwater archaeology with the Renaissance interest in reconstructing the past in order to affect the present Nautical and marine archaeologists as well as students and scholars of Renaissance history and historiography will appreciate this masterfully researched and gracefully written work United States Army in World War II , 1985 The Spanish Settlements Within the Present Limits of the United States, 1513-1561: Discoveries and adelantados.
