The Making of a Subversive Hernando J. Abaya, 1984 Hernando J Abaya in his latest book traces the tortuous path of Philippine politics from World War II down to the Marcos years He demonstrates how the Commander in Chief of the US Armed Forces in the Far East the late General MacArthur in effect reversed the Roosevelt Ickes policy toward the collaborationist elite in the Philippines and placed them back in power enabling the reactionary forces to regain control of the Philippine government and ultimately eliminate those who had in fact resisted the Japanese invaders and how in the post war years the liberal and nationalist minded were hounded and tarred with the communist paintbrush with the help of American advisers and secret service agents Foreword A History of Publishing in the Philippines Dominador D.

Cowan,2016-03-02 In this history of right wing politics in Brazil during the Cold War Benjamin Cowan puts the spotlight on the Cold Warriors themselves Drawing on little tapped archival records he shows that by midcentury conservatives individuals and organizations civilian as well as military were firmly situated in a transnational network of right wing cultural activists They subsequently joined the powerful hardline constituency supporting Brazil's brutal military dictatorship from 1964 to 1985 There they lent their weight to a dictatorship that Cowan argues operationalized a moral panic that conflated communist subversion with manifestations of modernity coalescing around the crucial nodes of gender and sexuality particularly in relation to youth women and the mass media The confluence of an empowered right and a security establishment suffused with rightist moralism created strongholds of anticommunism that spanned government agencies spurred repression and generated attempts to control and even change quotidian behavior Tracking how limits to Cold War authoritarianism finally emerged Cowan concludes that the record of autocracy and repression in Brazil is part of a larger story of reaction against perceived threats to traditional views of family gender moral standards and sexuality a story that continues in today's culture wars

The Rise of the Memoir Alex Zwerdling, 2017 The Rise of the Memoir traces the growth and extraordinarily wide appeal of the memoir Its territory is private rather than public life shame guilt and embarrassment not the achievements celebrated in the public record What accounts for the sharp need writers like Rousseau Woolf Orwell Nabokov Primo Levi and Maxine Hong Kingston felt to write and to publish such works when they might more easily have chosen to remain silent Alex Zwerdling explores why each of these writers felt compelled to write them as that story can be reconstructed from personal materials available in archival collections what internal conflicts they encountered while trying and how each of them resisted the private and public pressures to stop themselves rather than pursuing this confessional route against their own doubts without a reasonable expectation that such works would be welcome in print and eventually find an empathetic audience Reconstructing this process in which a dubious project eventually becomes a compelling product a memoir that will last illuminates both what was at stake and why this serially invented open form has reshaped the expectations of readers who welcomed a vital alternative to the official story

Iranian Women in the Memoir Emira Derbel, 2017-05-11 This book investigates the various reasons behind the elevation of the memoir previously categorized as a marginalized form of life writing that denudes the private space of women especially in Western Asian countries such as Iran Through a comparative investigation of Azar Nafisi's Reading Lolita in Tehran and Marjane Satrapi's Persepolis 1 and 2 the book examines the way both narrative and graphic memoirs offer possibilities for Iranian women to reclaim new territory transgress a post traumatic revolution and reconstruct a new model of womanhood that evades socio political and religious restrictions Exile is conceptualized as empowering rather than a continued status of loss and disillusionment and the liminality of both women writers turns into a space of artistic production The book also resists the New Orientalist scope within which Reading Lolita in Tehran more than Persepolis has been misread In order to reject these allegations this work sheds light on the representation of Iranian women in Reading Lolita in Tehran not as weak victims held captive by a totalitarian version of Islam but as active participants rewriting their stories through the liberating power of the memoir The comparative approach between narrative and comic memoirs is a fruitful way of displaying similar experiences of disillusionment loss return and exile through different techniques The common thread uniting both memoirs is their zeal to reclaim Iranian women s agency and strength over subservience and passivity The Journal of Asian Studies ,1986 Pilipinas ,1985 Memoir of the public and private life of ...
