The March Of Science:

Science Not Silence Stephanie Fine Sasse, Lucky Tran, 2018-03-09 Signs artwork stories and photographs from the March for Science Movement and community In January 2017 an idea on social media launched the global March for Science movement In a few short months more than 600 cities 250 partners and countless volunteers banded together to organize a historical event that drew people of all backgrounds interests and political leanings On April 22 2017 more than one million marchers worldwide took to the streets to stand up for the importance of science in society and their own lives and each of them has a story to tell Through signs artwork stories and photographs Science Not Silence shares some of the voices from the March for Science movement From Antarctica to the North Pole from under the sea to the tops of mountains whether alone or alongside thousands people marched for science A citizen scientist with advanced ALS spent countless hours creating an avatar using technology that tracks his eye movements so that he could give a speech Couples carrying babies born using in vitro fertilization dressed them in shirts that said Made By Science The former U S Chief Data Scientist spoke about what really makes America great Activists championed the ways science should serve marginalized communities Artists created stunning signs patients marched with the doctors who saved them and scientists marched with the community that supports them Every story is a call to action The march was just the beginning Now the real work begins Science Not Silence celebrates the success of the movement amplifies the passion and creativity of its supporters and reminds everyone how important it is to keep marching

The March of Science, 1931-35 British Association for the Advancement of Science, 1937

Scientists, Politics, and the Rhetoric of Public Controversy Pamela Pietrucci, Leah Ceccarelli, 2025-09-01 This book examines how scientists around the world embrace their responsibility as citizens and how science is being used and abused by non scientists in public spaces As right wing politicians conspiracy theorists and modern robber barons assault science in the current moment it is time for the rhetoric of science to reconceptualize itself as a crisis care discipline The essays in this volume help us do that by scrutinizing particular cases of science activism examining the public modalities of resistance that scientists are increasingly taking up as they modify their public engagement to fit evolving rhetorical situations These essays also reveal how the authority of science is being distorted and exploited by non experts in ways that are more dangerous than ever in the shadow of climate change and global pandemics The book ends with a look at new possibilities for collaboration between local communities and scientists and a reflection on how a rhetorical conception of ethos can help us comprehend the negotiation of asymmetries between experts and laypeople in the current era

The March of Soviet Science Aleksandr Evgen'evich Fersman, 1945 Environmental Policy Norman J. Vig, Michael E. Kraft, 2017-12-14 Authoritative and trusted Environmental Policy once again brings together top scholars to evaluate the changes and continuities in American environmental policy since the late 1960s and their implications for the twenty first century You will learn to decipher the underlying trends institutional constraints and policy dilemmas that shape

today's environmental politics The Tenth Edition examines how policy has changed within federal institutions and state and local governments as well as how environmental governance affects private sector policies and practices The book provides in depth examinations of public policy dilemmas including fracking food production urban sustainability and the viability of using market solutions to address policy challenges Students will also develop a deeper understanding of global issues such as climate change governance the implications of the Paris Agreement and the role of environmental policy in the developing world Students walk away with a measured yet hopeful evaluation of the future challenges policymakers will confront as the American environmental movement continues to affect the political process Space and the 'March of Mind' Alice
