The Market For Aid

Ioannis Lianos, Ioannis Kokkoris

The Market For Aid:

The Market for Aid Tim Harford, Michael Klein, 2012 The market for aid is changing These days donors use a far greater array of instruments than in the past and operate in a context of far larger private financial flows Poor countries are growing richer but there are legitimate doubts about whether the aid industry deserves credit Measurement of the effectiveness of aid has not yet produced some of the results that would really help such as credible ratings of aid agencies or rigorous randomized trials of specific programs This information might pull the aid debate away from minimizing the costs of aid competition and toward trying to maximize the benefits widespread experimentation and innovation

The Market for Aid Michael U. Klein, Tim Harford, 2005 This timely volume offers in an accessible and engaging style digestible surveys on some of the hottest topics in the aid industry today Klein and Harford examine the supply of aid and the demand for loans the grants versus loans debate debt restructuring in developing countries aid effectiveness and the role of the private sector The authors also present two scenarios for the future of the aid industry a world of booming private remittances and nongovernmental aid flows put to innovative uses Or a world with falling numbers of people in absolute poverty where aid agencies are forced to cooperate to survive The authors argue that the aid industry is changing old models of aid are under pressure and both donors and recipients will ask more and more of aid agencies in future The chaos of competition and the search for new ideas is frightening to some and risks harming the people who the industry is supposed to benefit Yet at the same time there is a tremendous opportunity to harness competition to improve performance and find better ways of helping the poor Regulatory Policy presents a unique combination of analysis of both international trade and investment policies and competition and regulatory policies. Increasingly, policymakers, businesses and the law and economics professions need to better understand how changes and policy developments in international trade and competition developed and how their interaction impacts on global business. In addition to providing a comprehensive analysis of the attempts of international trade theory and practice to deal with tariffs, non-tariff barriers, market distortions and failures to protect various kinds of property rights, this book contains a detailed treatment of how property rights protection, including intangible property rights, are a critical element of ensuring open trade and competitive markets. It examines how these rights have developed over time and how they have been integrated into trade and competition policy. This book will be of significant interest to students of international business, professors of economics, law and business, and policymakers at the intersection of trade, investment, competition and property rights.

Carbon Free, 2025-03-03. It's now or never. The goal of achieving global climate neutrality is essential for ecological, economic and social reasons and requires immediate and decisive action from politicians and society. Carbon Free summarizes the building blocks we need to successfully manage the energy transition. Replete with international examples, the book's first part explores the transformation of the energy markets, necessary accompanying redistributions, the often neglected issue of global population development, but also the ethical and political framework conditions under which the energy transition should take place. Part II deals with sector-specific topics, including renewable energies, heat pumps, geothermal energy and solar thermal energy. Levelized costs of energy in the context of innovation promotion and the financing method of project financing are presented. The chapters in this part discuss implementation of strategic energy partnerships and how to shape future regulatory steps. The book's third part then goes on to discuss the available toolbox with contributions on the technical and economic perspectives of green hydrogen, grid infrastructures, digitalization as well as the circular economy. This book will benefit both scholars and practitioners with its unique overview of the elements that need to be taken into account in order for the energy transition to succeed.

Domestic Commerce Series, 1936 The Evolving Governance of EU Competition Law in a Time of Disruptions Carlo Maria

Colombo, Kathryn Wright, Mariolina Eliantonio, 2024-02-08. This book develops a timely analysis of the complex trends and transformations emerging in EU competition law in the current turbulent times. Repeated economic crises, the climate emergency, digitalisation and geopolitical and democratic threats are all having profound societal and economic effects on the EU. In light of its fundamental role in the Treaties, EU competition law has been called upon to play an important role in responding to this state of turbulence. This brings about significant governance and constitutional challenges, firstly by questioning how the governance of EU competition law is being transformed to respond and adapt. Secondly, these crisis-induced transformations probe the logic and constitutional limits of EU competition law within the framework of EU law. This collection brings together EU institutional and competition lawyers to reflect on the governance and constitutional challenges emerging from the post modernisation evolution of EU competition law against the backdrop of the recent multiple crises in the EU The essays focus on the substantive and procedural developments across the three main policy areas of EU competition law antitrust merger control and State aid EU constitutional and competition lawyers will be interested in this important new collection      The Reform of EC Competition Law Ioannis Lianos,Ioannis Kokkoris,2009-12-16 This book represents a fresh approach to EC competition law one that is of singular value in grappling with the huge economic challenges we face today As a critical analysis of the law and options available to European competition authorities and legal practitioners in the field it stands without peer It will be greatly welcomed by lawyers policymakers and other interested professionals in Europe and throughout the world      Managing Global Offshoring Strategies Jacob Pyndt,Torben Pedersen,2006 Addressing the challenges associated with managing global offshoring strategies this book aims to put a face on some Danish companies as they engage in offshoring projects It is aimed at bachelor master and MBA students taking courses on global strategy It is also useful in conjunction with a set of articles on global strategy issues      The Art of Regulation Christian Koenig,Bernhard von Wendland,2017-02-24 Increasingly EU market regulation measures have been introduced in the pursuit of economic justice and welfare This book illustrates how regulation can help to prevent the abuse of dominance in particular the abuse of public capital by the state      State Aid and the European Economic Constitution Francesco de Cecco,2012-12-14 Recent years have seen the rise of EU State aid law as a crucial component of the European economic constitution To date however the literature has neglected the contribution of this area of EU law to the internal market This book seeks to fill this gap in our understanding of the economic constitution by exploring the significance of State aid law in addressing questions that go to the core of the internal market project It does so by examining the case law relating to three different activities that Member States engage in market participation market regulation and funding for Services of General Economic Interest Each of these areas offers insights into fundamental questions surrounding the economic constitution such as the separation between the State and the market the scope for Member States to engage in regulatory competition and the tension between market and nonmarket concerns      Selectivity in State Aid Law and the Methods for the Allocation of the Corporate Tax Base Jérôme Monsenego,2018-06-05 High profile cases before the European Commission and the EU courts have intensified scrutiny of the link between State aid law and the taxation of multinational enterprises Certain decisions have raised questions about fiscal sovereignty and the interpretation of the rules on State aid in particular the notion of selectivity which have not been addressed in detail by existing research The combination of the evolution of the notion of selectivity in State aid law on the one hand and the need to adapt the rules for the taxation of the profits of multinational enterprises to the modern economy on the other hand makes it necessary to assess whether existing as well as alternative rules for the allocation of the corporate tax base might entail a selective treatment This book responds to the need of research in the area of State aid law applied to the taxation of the income of multinational enterprises focusing on the crucial concept of selectivity The analysis proceeds with a detailed investigation of the theoretical issues that arise when applying the selectivity test in State aid law to three methods for the allocation of the corporate tax base between the members of multinational enterprises the arm's length principle transfer pricing safe harbours and systems of formula apportionment This research project is conducted at a theoretical level without considering national provisions or particular tax treaties The author suggests an analytical framework on the application of the selectivity test to the three allocation methods It is concluded that these methods are likely to have certain selective features with varying possibilities to be justified by the inner logic of a corporate income tax system It is also demonstrated that selectivity occurs for different reasons due to the different rationales of the three allocation methods This book is intended at contributing to the academic literature on the impact of State aid law on the principles for the taxation of the income of multinational enterprises The outcome of this research project is also relevant for lawmakers who need to reconcile the imperatives of State aid law with the design of rules that match their tax policies as well as for judges or lawyers who apply the rules on State aid to tax provisions
