Small Nations in Times of Crisis and Confrontation Yohanan Cohen,2012-02-01 The question is how should small states behave under pressure The analysis is of three cases Czechoslovakia in 1938 Poland from 1939 to 1945 and Finland in 1940 and 41 The author is scrupulous in not drawing too many general lessons from these cases but the imprudence of overreliance on great power protection and of ceding to justifications for surrender based on self determination are made clear

Small Nations in Times of Crisis and Confrontation Yohanan Cohen,1989-01-01 The question is how should small states behave under pressure The analysis is of three cases Czechoslovakia in 1938 Poland from 1939 to 1945 and Finland in 1940 and 41 The author is scrupulous in not drawing too many general lessons from these cases but the imprudence of overreliance on great power protection and of ceding to justifications for surrender based on self determination are made clear

Dirk Moses,2021-02-04 Genocide is not only a problem of mass death but also of how as a relatively new idea and law it organizes and distorts thinking about civilian destruction Taking the normative perspective of civilian immunity from military attack A Dirk Moses argues that the implicit hierarchy of international criminal law atop which sits genocide as the crime of crimes blinds us to other types of humanly caused civilian death like bombing cities and the collateral damage of missile and drone strikes Talk of genocide then can function ideologically to detract from systematic violence against civilians perpetrated by governments of all types The Problems of Genocide contends that this violence is the consequence of permanent security imperatives the striving of states and armed groups seeking to found states to make themselves invulnerable to threats

Europe's Coherence Gap in External Crisis and Conflict Management Bertelsmann Stiftung,2020-04-07 External interventions to mitigate crises or end conflicts have rarely succeeded The EU and its member states in particular have repeatedly run up against their limits in the civil wars in Afghanistan the Congo Libya Syria the Sahel region and Yemen However the EU if not the entire international community have learned one lesson from their faltering peacebuilding efforts If they are to have any chance of making a meaningful and lasting difference they must develop and use comprehensive strategies that combine and coordinate the various tools available to diplomacy development cooperation and security The 29 reports presented in this book one for each EU member state as well as one on the EU as a whole examine how steep the learning curve has been and accordingly how successful these bodies have been at forming new linkages among the various actors involved in external crisis and conflict management as well as within and between their institutions and organisations While the EU clearly still has a long way to go before it can live up to its rhetoric and become a distinct and effective actor on the foreign policy stage small and incremental steps in reorganising institutional practise may help in narrowing the gap between words and deeds This volume provides examples of how the EU and its member states have found new organisational structures and procedures specifically at the headquarters level to better organise the necessary combination and coordination of the many tools available for crisis and conflict management These ways are then juxtaposed in a big picture chapter which also identifies best practices for successful WGA implementation
