The Terrible Beauty Dr. Aparajita Hazra, Hazra, 2015-09-30      Terrible Beauty Marian Eide, 2019-03-13 If art is our bid to make sense of the senseless there is hardly more fertile creative ground than that of the twentieth century From the trench poetry of World War I and Holocaust memoirs by Primo Levi and Elie Wiesel to the post colonial novels of southern Asia and the anti apartheid plays of the South African Market Theater writers have married beauty and horror This century of trauma produced writing at once saturated in political violence and complicated by the ethics of aesthetic representation Stretching across genres and the globe Terrible Beauty charts a course of aesthetic reconciliation between empathy and evil in the great literature of the twentieth century The violent aesthetic a category the author traces back to Plato and Nietzsche accommodates the pleasure people take not only in destruction itself but also in its rendering As readers we oscillate between a fascination with atrocity and an ethical imperative to bear witness Arguing for the immersive experience of literature as particularly conducive to ethical contemplation Marian Eide plumbs the aesthetic power and ethical purpose of this creative tension By invoking the reader as complicit both stricken witness and enthralled voyeur Terrible Beauty sheds new light on the relationship between violence literature and the moral burdens of art      Terrible Beauty Auden Schendler, 2024-11-26 A firsthand trench view story of the failure of the modern environmental movement and an inspiring prescription for change Something s gone badly awry with environmentalism We faithfully separate our waste into different streams but wonder whether it really makes a difference Global companies announce their commitment to carbon negativity while simultaneously sponsoring oil conferences American businesses communities and individuals assiduously measure their carbon footprints then implement voluntary emissions reduction programs all while trumpeting their do gooderism The problem is none of this whether individual efforts or corporate sustainability tactics will make a dent in solving the civilizational threat of climate change We only pretend it will at our peril As sustainability veteran Auden Schendler argues in this provocative powerful book we re living a big green lie The hard truth is that much of the modern environmental road map could have been written by the fossil fuel industry specifically to avoid disrupting the status quo We have become somehow complicit But there is another truth while ineffective or duplicitous environmentalism has become standard practice we all have friends and family we love and care about whose future depends on solving the problem of climate change Conscience tells us we have an obligation to repair the world How can our common dreams be so at odds with our daily practice And how might we meld our spirit and our passion to create a better future Schendler meets this profound contradiction head on with a bracing critique moving personal stories of parenthood and service and innovative real world methods to tackle climate change at the corporate community and individual levels Terrible Beauty is a unique and inspiring call for a new environmentalism showing us that the key to saving the planet is to tap into our own humanity      Terrible Beauty Anna Zaires, Dima Zales, 2022-09-20 A family contract A dark bargain No escape Eleven years ago I met him A year
