Curry Jr.,2023-11-15 New challenges and opportunities have come to the fore as the middle African States have consolidated their independence In grappling with economic scarcity and restricted choice decision makers must transform domestic institutions and practices and reformulate their relationship to the global economy The authors of this book believe that their efforts can be advanced by resorting to a problem solving focus Such an approach will in their opinion allow social scientists to remain true to their professional disciplines while permitting them to embrace African designated objectives By inquiring into decision processes and results policy analysis seeks to identify optimal courses of action in the context of prevailing societal demands and constraints In general African decision makers have adopted three choice strategies with an eye to reducing scarcity and expanding alternatives accommodation reorganization and transformation When these choice strategies are related to system goals striking variations in preferences and priorities emerge the most significant of which concern decision on mobilizing and distributing resources and achieving freedom from external control

In various trade off situations involving negotiations by producer cartels bargaining between multinational companies and African host countries and external economic assistance diverse policy patters among the groups in relating to the benefits and costs of particular lines of action appear Each choice strategy has its own benefit cost combination Since no approach may be equally valid cross nationally the decision elites of each country are left with the responsibility for determining their own goals and priorities New challenges and opportunities have come to the fore as the middle African States have consolidated their independence In grappling with economic scarcity and restricted choice decision makers must transform domestic institutions and practices and ref Zimbabwe, a Country Study United States.
