Social Gerontology An Introduction To The Dynamics Of Aging:

Social Gerontology David L. Decker, 1980 Aging in Society Matilda White Riley, Beth B. Hess, Kathleen Bond, 2025-07-01 Originally published in 1983 Aging in Society consists of a selection of papers that were prepared by various authors as background papers for the 1981 White House Conference on Aging The papers provided an overview of knowledge on various aspects of aging in the United States at the time Topics covered include aging and the family economic aspects of an aging population recent trends in the geographical distribution of the elderly population and mortality and health differentials by sex Today it can be read in its historical context Communication and Aging Jon F. Nussbaum, Loretta L. Pecchioni, James D. Robinson, Teresa L. Thompson, 2013-05-13 This text employs a communication perspective to examine the aging process and the ability of individuals to adapt successfully to aging It continues the groundbreaking work of the first edition emphasizing a life span approach toward understanding the social interaction that occurs during later life The edition provides a comprehensive update on the existing and emerging research within communication and aging studies and considers such topics as notions of successful aging positive and negative stereotypes toward older adults and health communication issues It raises awareness of the barriers facing elderly people in conversation and the importance such conversations have in elderly people's lives The impact of nonrelational processes such as hearing loss are considered as they impact relationships with others and affect the ability to age successfully The book is organized into 14 chapters Each chapter is written so that the reader is presented with an exhaustive review of the pertinent and recent literature from the social sciences As in the first edition when the literature is empirically based the communicative ramifications are then discussed Readers of this volume will gain greater understanding of the importance of their communicative relationships and how significant they remain across the life span Developed for students in communication psychology nursing social gerontology sociology and related areas Communication and Aging provides important insights on communication to all who are affected by the aging process Cognitive and Behavioral Performance Factors in Atypical Aging Mark L. Howe, Michael J. Stones, Charles J. Brainerd, 2012-12-06 It is a truism that as we age there are a number of underlying physiological changes conspiring to alter our level of behavioral and cognitive functioning Despite the inherent interrelatedness of these behavioral and cognitive changes all too often the papers we read confine themselves to specific isolated components of the developing process Although exceptions naturally exist we believe that these exceptions should become rule Although an integrated approach is important in all areas of adult development it is perhaps particularly germane in the study of atypical aging Here changes in overall functioning can occur in rapid succession with the synchrony of decline between different subprocesses making it difficult to factor changes in one process from changes in another For example because changes in cognitive functioning co occur with other dramatic changes in motoric response capacities it is unclear how one can effectively study changes in the ability to cognize independent of changes in the very mechanisms ability to execute motor sequences so often used to index cognitive performance Activities With Developmentally Disabled Elderly and Older Adults M Jean Keller, 2013-01-11 Learn how to effectively plan and deliver activities for the growing number of older people with developmental disabilities Activities With Developmentally Disabled Elderly and Older Adults is an innovative new book that aims to stimulate interest and continued support for recreation program development and implementation among developmental disability and aging service systems Particularly useful for human service professionals working in the areas of developmental disabilities and aging this practical volume will also be of interest to researchers educators and students interested in recreation services with older adults who are developmentally disabled The older adult population with developmental disabilities DD continues to grow rapidly yet little is known about their needs and interests In this book a wide variety of authors share innovative and creative strategies for programming activities with older adults with DD They focus on diverse issues services and programs from researchers educators and practitioners represented varied disciplines Each chapter demonstrates the diversity that makes serving a growing number of older individuals with DD both challenging and rewarding Among the wealth of information you will find in Activities With Developmentally Disabled Elderly and Older Adults are discussions on the characteristics of this population and challenge activity professionals to seek innovative program strategies to appropriately serve individuals with DD companionship friendship physical functioning and retirement adjustment issues that confront older adults who have lived with lifelong disabling conditions how a continuum of recreational activities is needed to provide meaningful experiences to elders with developmental disabilities how to design therapeutic recreation programs survey instruments that can be used to gain information about the needs of elderly persons with DD how to find specific programs and services that are age appropriate and foster creative expression and positive self esteem a rationale for the development of integrated recreation programs interactions and their impact on physical and psychological aging Comparative perspectives and cultural innovations topics in this section include ageing and development ageing in a global context migration and cross cultural perspectives on grandparenthood Policy issues The final section examines some of the main policy concerns affecting older people across the world Topics include developments in social policy long term care technology and older people end of life issues work and retirement crime and older people and the politics of old age This will be essential reading for all students researchers and policy makers concerned with the major issues influencing the lives of older people across the globe Aging, Ageism, and Society Georgia M. Barrow, Patricia A. Smith, 1979 A Guide to Minority Aging References Jose B. Cuellar, 1983 Health, Illness, and Optimal Aging, Second Edition Carolyn Aldwin, Carolyn M. Aldwin, Diane Gilmer, 2013-01-17 Aldwin and Gilmer have supplied an interesting textual model for examining health illness and aging Their homogenized approach to aging research is refreshing and insightful Anthropology and Aging Quarterly Clearly written at a level for college students this is an excellent resource on aging Highly recommended Choice Current Reviews for Academic Libraries Spanning the biological and psychosocial aspects of aging this upper level undergraduate and graduate text integrates current findings in biology psychology and the social sciences to provide comprehensive multidisciplinary coverage of the aging process This new edition incorporates the tremendous amount of research that has come to light since the first edition was published From a physical perspective the text examines age related changes and disease related processes the demography of the aging population aging theories and how to promote optimal aging Coverage of the psychosocial aspects of aging encompasses mental health stress and coping spirituality and caregiving in later years The authors address demographic theoretical and methodological issues on aging including a worldwide overview of aging demographics The book reviews biological and psychosocial theories and offers much needed information on longitudinal design and statistics as they relate to aging research It discusses the aging of the major organ systems the brain and sensory systems and the endocrine and immune systems basic anatomy and physiology normal impaired and optimal aging and functional health Psychosocial factors that affect health are addressed including the interplay between physical health and mental health stress coping and social support The text also covers current issues in social gerontology including such promising new trends as gerontechnology and Green Houses and provides information on health promotion programs New to the Second Edition Information involving retirement volunteer opportunities housing and adaptation to health changes Coverage of economics and aging including information on social security and other retirement income and the future of Medicare and Medicaid Significant new information about the regulatory systems Revised and updated chapters on death and dying and optimal aging Discussions on two models of optimal aging and valuable tips for its promotion URLs to relevant websites for additional information The Sociology of Aging Diana K. Harris, 1985 Anthropology of Aging Marjorie M. Schweitzer, 1991-06-19 During the 1970s Comparative Cultural Gerontology or the Anthropology of Aging with its focus on aging from a cross cultural perspective attained the status of a new speciality in the field of anthropology. It was only in the late 1960s to the mid 70s that elderly people and the process of aging became recognized as a bona fide research topic for anthropology. Majorie M. Schweitzer's Anthropology of Aging looks at aging from this cross cultural perspective and updates the Association for Anthropology and Gerontology's previously published Topical Bibliography and the Supplement to the Topical Bibliography on the Anthropology of Aging. Schweitzer focuses on citations that represent anthropological perspectives and or cross cultural data with data from other disciplines included when warranted. Besides a greatly expanded number of bibliographical references, Schweitzer's work includes annotations for particularly important citations including those that address special issues such as method and theory as they relate to aging and those that provide the clearest treatment of a particular topic. The topical outline of the 1982 volume has been retained with only minor additions and changes making the Bibliography both easy to use and a rich resource for researchers. Over 40 international scholars in the field of aging have updated the various sections of the original bibliography. Organized according to two kinds of topics, subject topics such as Modernization and regional cultural group topics such as Great Britain, American Indian, the reference contains 14 chapters that investigate research on the subject from Africa to the Pacific Rim, USSR, USA, Europe, Israel and more. Beginning with a chapter that zeroes in on general theoretical and comparative works, the volume proceeds with chapters that examine demography, biology and longevity, medical aspects of aging, non industrialized societies, national cultures, modernization and ethnic rural segments of the United States. The last six chapters examine social structure, community organization and age homogeneous residences, urban aged social networks, support systems, women, death and dying and methods. The final chapter contains a list of additional bibliographies. A must for most research libraries, this comprehensive bibliography will be widely used by teachers, students, researchers, social workers, service providers and administrators from many different disciplines.

Aging and the Aged Linna Funk Place, 2019-03-13. This book introduces undergraduates to library research in the field of gerontology and focuses on the wide variety of sources available for research. It covers physiological and psychological aspects of aging, social aspects of aging and environmental aspects of aging. The Evolution of British Gerontology

Miriam Bernard, Mo Ray, Jackie Reynolds, 2020-04-01. Half a century of UK gerontology research: theory, policy and practice are under the spotlight in this landmark critical review of the subject that places the country's achievements in an international context. Drawing on the archives of the British Society of Gerontology and interviews with dozens of the most influential figures in the field, it provides a comprehensive picture of key developments and issues and looks to the future to plot new directions in thinking. This is the story of the remarkable progress of gerontology told through the eyes of those who have led it. Geriatric Medicine C.K. Cassel, J.R. Walsh, 2012-12-06. With the appearance of a textbook as comprehensive as this one, it is clear that the field of geriatrics is coming of age. The broad scope of these volumes shapes a substantial answer to the question: What is geriatrics and why should we be interested in it? As I see it, there are at least five reasons. First the scientific or intellectual reason gerontology is the study of aging from the biologic psychological and social perspectives There is increasing interest in the fascinating insights into the biologic mechanisms of aging errors in protein synthesis DNA repair mechanisms alterations of the neuroendocrine system changes in the immune system genetic controls and somatic mutations Second the demographic reason this is the century of old age There has been a 26 year gain in the average life expectancy This gain compares with that acquired from 3 000 years B C the Bronze Age to the year 1900 which was about 29 years Therefore in one century there has been a gain in the average life expectancy almost equal to 5 000 previous years of human history In 1830 one of three newborn infants survived beyond 60 years of age Growing Old in America Beth B. Hess, Elizabeth Warren Markson, 1985 Critical perspectives on ageing societies Miriam Bernard, Thomas Scharf, 2007-05-16 This important book brings together some of the best known international scholars working within a critical gerontology perspective Together they review and update our understanding of how the field has developed over the last twenty five years and through the lens of passionate scholarship provide a challenging assessment of the complex practical and ethical issues facing older people and those who conduct research on ageing in the 21st century The contributions extend the critical gerontological approach conceptually methodologically and practically They offer close and scholarly analysis of policies affecting the lives of older people and provide insights into why research is done in particular ways Special attention is paid to feminist contributions and new approaches to working in partnership with older people age discrimination and ageism the impact of neo liberal policies and the passage of various human rights instruments the re medicalisation of later life the participation of older people in research and justice between generations The editors and contributors offer suggestions for promoting change and an exciting set of visions and perspectives for the renewal and development of critical gerontology in the years ahead Critical Perspectives on Ageing Societies will be a valuable resource for all students academics and practitioners interested in ageing and the life course National Directory of Educational Programs in Gerontology, 1976 Ageing Alan Roadburg, 1985
