Cox,2013-05-24 The human figure is one of the earliest topics drawn by the young child and remains popular throughout childhood and into adolescence When it first emerges however the human figure in the child's drawing is very bizarre it appears to have no torso and its arms if indeed it has any are attached to its head Even when the figure begins to look more conventional the child must still contend with a variety of problems for instance how to draw the head and body in the right proportions and how to draw the figure in action In this book Maureen Cox traces the development of the human form in children's drawings she reviews the literature in the field criticises a number of major theories which purport to explain the developing child's drawing skills and also presents new data Primary Education ,1927 Enabling Children's Learning Through Drawing Fred Sedgwick,2013-10-23 At the heart of this book is an emphasis on helping children to learn about themselves their world and their relationships through drawing It also shows how teachers can use drawing as an in road into art language literacy and other aspects of the curriculum how children can improve their writing through drawing concentrating on draftsmanship the lines of letters words and sentences and how children can improve the quality of their drawing with four basic rules that have been proven to raise standards throughout school Based on case studies of children from six to eleven years of age this passionately written book draws inspiration from Leonardo da Vinci's sketchbooks and from Nigerian art to show how children can learn more effectively through the medium of drawing Is This a Phase?
