

Public Speaking

*I'm not a performer or an orator
I've told you this many times,
But you behave as if you lacked understanding*

*Everybody has different abilities
It's unreasonable to expect everybody to be the same
Some people are speakers, others aren't*

*I'm an author, not a conversationalist
I don't want to be in the spotlight
And I don't like many eyes staring at me*

*You make me feel guilty and uncomfortable
Don't give me any assignments or responsibilities,
For I'm not a dependable person as I once was*

*I can't read or recite dramatically
I'm always tense when I stand before an audience
Even if I'm addressing people I know well*

*The performers alone can't make the show a success,
But you only praise the ones you see performing
You don't appreciate the work I do behind the scenes*

*I can't speak fluently due to a speech impediment,
So I have to avoid embarrassment
Public speaking is for people who can speak well*

*I don't like to engage in oral discussions
When I have an opinion of someone or something,
My writing figuratively does the talking for me*

The Ethics and Poetics of Alterity in Asian American Poetry Xiaojing Zhou, 2006-05 Poetry by Asian American writers has had a significant impact on the landscape of contemporary American poetry and a book length critical treatment of Asian American poetry is long overdue In this groundbreaking book Xiaojing Zhou demonstrates how many Asian American poets transform the conventional I of lyric poetry based on the traditional Western concept of the self and the Cartesian I to enact a more ethical relationship between the I and its others Drawing on Emmanuel Levinas's idea of the ethics of alterity which argues that an ethical relation to the other is one that acknowledges the irreducibility of otherness Zhou offers a reconceptualization of both self and other Taking difference as a source of creativity and turning it into a form of resistance and a critical intervention Asian American poets engage with broader issues than the merely poetic They confront social injustice against the other and call critical attention to a concept of otherness which differs fundamentally from that underlying racism sexism and colonialism By locating the ethical and political questions of otherness in language discourse aesthetics and everyday encounters Asian American poets help advance critical studies in race gender and popular culture as well as in poetry

The Ethics and Poetics of Alterity is not limited however to literary studies it is an invaluable response to the questions raised by increasingly globalized encounters across many kinds of boundaries
