Species Identity Attachment A Phylogen:

Species Identity and Attachment M. Aaron Roy, 1980 The Psychobiology of Attachment and Separation Martin Reite, 2012-12-02 The Psychobiology of Attachment and Separation provides an understanding of certain theoretical issues involved in social attachment and separation The book brings together a number of investigators studying animal and human models of the psychobiology of attachment and separation The contributors are actively conducting studies that incorporate physiological measures in attachment separation paradigms Thus the book s unique features include reviews and interpretations of recent data on the physiological correlates of attachment and separation behavior in both animals and humans The book is divided into two parts one on animal models and one on human models The first part reviews research from several animal species including studies on the biology of maternal behavior and physiological neurochemical and neuroanatomical correlates of both attachment and separation The chapters on animal models provide an overview of the state of knowledge on both the biology of social attachment and the biological correlates of separation The second part presents reviews and new data on attachment and separation in human infants A summary chapter examines both animal and human data and offers a synthesis of the results including clinical implications and ideas for future research Intersections With Attachment Jacob L. Gewirtz, William M. Kurtines, Jacob L. Lamb, 2013-05-13 Attachment has long been a key area of social development Work on attachment processes has involved a variety of species as well as humans in diverse cultures and at various points in the life cycle This volume presents research devoted to the meaning and implications of the attachment concept including possible indices of attachment the role of learning whether or not attachment is best treated as continuous or discontinuous and considerations for viewing attachment as a trait across environmental settings or as a process with functions that operate differently in disparate settings Other psychological process concepts such as imprinting relationships and identification are also discussed Because the contributors are active researchers and theorists this volume may help establish trends and determine directions to shape literature on attachment for years to come Behavioral Evolution and Integrative Levels G. Greenberg, E. Tobach, 2014-05-22 First published in 1984 In this collection of essays Schneirla is identified as a scientist and citizen unafraid to hold and present unpopular ideas Schneirla had always been opposed to the hereditarian views that allowed for the politicalization of psychology and spoke out early against the idea of the genetic basis of behavior It is fitting that his ideas which still form the nexus of the major theoretical criticism of classical ethology now can be seen to stand in opposition to the hereditarian views of socio biology Wildlife Review , 1986 Comparative Psychology Gary Greenberg, Maury M. Haraway, 1998 This volume traces the modern critical and performance history of this play one of Shakespeare s most loved and most performed comedies The essay focus on such modern concerns as feminism deconstruction textual theory and queer theory Social Influences and Socialization in Infancy S. Feinman, Michael Lewis, 2013-06-29 How are we to understand the complex forces that shape human behavior A variety of diverse perspectives drawing on studies of human behavioral ontogeny as well as humanity's evolutionary heritage seem to provide the best likelihood of success. It is in an attempt to synthesize such potentially disparate approaches to human development into an integrated whole that we undertake this series on the genesis of behavior. In many respects the incredible burgeoning of research in child development over the last two decades or so seems like a thousand lines of inquiry spreading outward in an incoherent starburst of effort. The need exists to provide on an ongoing basis an arena of discourse within which the threads of continuity among those diverse lines of research on human development can be woven into a fabric of meaning and understanding. Scientists, scholars, and those who attempt to translate their efforts into the practical realities of the care and guidance of infants and children are the audience that we seek to reach. Each requires the opportunity to see to the degree that our knowledge in given areas permits various aspects of development in a coherent integrated fashion. It is hoped that this series which brings together research on infant biology, developing infant capacities, animal models, and impact of social, cultural, and familial forces on development and the distorted products of such forces under certain circumstances serves these important social and scientific needs. Evolution and Learning R. C. Bolles, M. D. Beecher, 2013-08-21

First published in 1987, evolutionary theory and learning theory have for a long time developed in quite separate traditions. The purpose of this book is partly to celebrate new developments in the two theories by displaying some of the work of this new breed of scholar. It is the editors' hope that they can encourage others to look more carefully at the mechanisms that make learning an evolutionary consideration and evolution a learning theory consideration. Evolving Hierarchical Systems Stanley N. Salthe, 2010-06-01 Chimpanzees and Human Evolution Martin N. Muller, Richard W. Wrangham, David R. Pilbeam, 2017-11-27 Knowledge of wild chimpanzees has expanded dramatically. This volume, edited by Martin Muller, Richard Wrangham, and David Pilbeam, brings together scientists who are leading a revolution to discover and explain human uniqueness by studying our closest living relatives. Their conclusions may transform our understanding of human evolution. Feline Behavior - E-Book Bonnie V. Beaver, 2003-03-07

Naturalistic Environments in Captivity for Animal Behavior Research Edward F. Gibbons, 1994-01-01 This book addresses theoretical and pragmatic issues concerning naturalistic environments in captivity for animals The multidisciplinary orientation of the volume will help regulatory personnel administrators and researchers to understand each other's roles and responsibilities in the design construction and real time operation of these facilities The book also highlights the important value of naturalistic environments in captivity to the scientific study of animal behavior The authors provide insights into identifying physical environmental features not in compliance with existing regulations and that may have a negative impact on the physical health and psychological well being of animals

The Mirror and the Mind Katja Guenther, 2024-11-26 How the classic mirror test served as a portal for scientists to explore questions of self awareness Since the late eighteenth century scientists have placed subjects humans infants animals and robots in front of mirrors in order to look for signs of self recognition Mirrors served as the possible means for answering the question What makes us human In The Mirror and the Mind Katja Guenther traces the history of the mirror self recognition test exploring how researchers from a range of disciplines psychoanalysis psychiatry developmental and animal psychology cybernetics anthropology and neuroscience came to read the peculiar behaviors elicited by mirrors Investigating the ways mirrors could lead to both identification and misidentification Guenther looks at how such experiments ultimately failed to determine human specificity The mirror test was thrust into the limelight when Charles Darwin challenged the idea that language sets humans apart Thereafter the mirror previously a recurrent if marginal scientific tool became dominant in attempts to demarcate humans from other animals But because researchers could not rely on language to determine what their nonspeaking subjects were experiencing they had to come up with significant innovations including notation strategies testing protocols and the linking of scientific theories across disciplines From the robotic tortoises of Grey Walter and the mark test of Beulah Amsterdam and Gordon Gallup to anorexia research and mirror neurons the mirror test offers a window into the emergence of such fields as biology psychology psychiatry animal studies cognitive science and neuroscience The Mirror and the Mind offers an intriguing history of experiments in self awareness and the advancements of the human sciences across more than a century

Émile Durkheim and the Birth of the Gods Alexandra Maryanski, 2018-06-18 The Birth of the Gods is dedicated to Durkheim's effort to understand the basis of social integration Unlike most social scientists then and now Durkheim concluded that humans are naturally more individualistic than collectivistic that the primal social unit for humans is the macro level unit the horde rather than the family and that social cohesion is easily disrupted by human self interest Hence for Durkheim one of the gravest problems facing sociology is how to mold these human proclivities to serve the collective good The analysis of elementary religions Durkheim believed would allow social scientists to see the fundamental basis of solidarity in human societies built around collective representations totems marking sacred forces and emotion arousing rituals directed at these totems The first half of the book traces the key influences and events that led Durkheim to embrace such novel generalizations The second part makes a significant contribution to sociological theory with an analysis that essentially tests Durkheim's core assumptions using cladistic analysis social network tools and theory and data on humans closest living relatives the great apes Maryanski marshals hard data from primatology paleontology archaeology genetics and neuroscience that enlightens and surprisingly confirms many of Durkheim's speculations These data show that integration among both humans and great apes is not so much group or kin oriented per se but orientation to a community standing outside each individual that includes a sense of self but also encompassing a cognitive awareness of a sense of community or a connectedness that transcends sensory reality and concrete social relations This community complex as Maryanski terms it is what Durkheim was beginning to see although he did not have the data to buttress his arguments as Maryanski is able to do
