Scrutiny of arms export controls (2011) Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Business, Innovation and Skills Committee, 2011-04-05 This is the first joint report on arms export controls since the present Government took office in May 2010 As in previous years the report reviews the Government's policy on arms exports its administration and enforcement and the adequacy or otherwise of current legislation This year the Committees have paid particular attention to the Government's policy of intensifying the promotion of arms exports The policy has come under scrutiny following the uprisings and demonstrations in recent weeks in North Africa and the wider Middle East and the armed response made to them Since January 2011 the Government has been vigorously backpedalling on a number of arms export licence approvals to authoritarian regimes across the region The MPs conclude that both the present Government and its predecessor misjudged the risk that arms approved for export to certain authoritarian countries in North Africa and the Middle East might be used for internal repression The Committees welcome the revocation of a number of arms export licences to Bahrain Egypt Libya and Tunisia and recommend that the Government extends immediately its review of UK arms export licences for countries in North Africa and the wider Middle East to authoritarian regimes worldwide The Government should also set out how it intends to reconcile the potential conflict of interest between increased emphasis on promoting arms exports with the staunch upholding of human rights The Christian observer [afterw.] The Christian observer and advocate ,1828
