Spectacular Display Annemieke Van Damme, 2001 This book illustrates and describes the decorated wall panels sculpture and masks created during initiation rites of the young men of the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Angola On a broader level the book explores the artistic and craft traditions of the local artisans African Art, Interviews, Narratives Joanna Grabski, Carol Magee, 2013-05-28 Joanna Grabski and Carol Magee bring together a compelling collection that shows how interviews can be used to generate new meaning and how connecting with artists and their work can transform artistic production into innovative critical insights and knowledge The contributors to this volume include artists museum curators art historians and anthropologists who address artistic production in a variety of locations and media to question previous uses of interview and provoke alternative understandings of art The Mind of Mithraists Luther H. Martin, 2014-11-20 The Roman cult of Mithras was the most widely dispersed and densely distributed cult throughout the expanse of the Roman Empire from the end of the first until the fourth century AD rivaling the early growth and development of Christianity during the same period As its membership was largely drawn from the ranks of the military its spread but not its popularity is attributable largely to military deployments and re deployments Although mithraists left behind no written archival evidence there is an abundance of iconographic finds The only characteristic common to all Mithraic temples were the fundamental architecture of their design and the cult image of Mithras slaying a bull How were these two features so faithfully transmitted through the Empire by a non centralized non hierarchical religious movement The Minds of Mithraists Historical and Cognitive Studies in the Roman Cult of Mithras addresses these questions as well as the relationship of Mithraism to Christianity explanations of the significance of the tauroctony and of the rituals enacted in the mithraea and explanations for the spread of Mithraism and for its resistance in a few places The unifying theme throughout is an investigation of the mind of those engaged in the cult practices of this widespread ancient religion These investigations represent traditional historical methods as well as more recent studies employing the insights of the cognitive sciences demonstrating that cognitive historiography is a valuable methodological tool Africa's Buildings Itohan I. Osayimwese, 2025-09-23 A groundbreaking history of Africa's looted architectural heritage and a bold proposal for the repatriation of the continent's stolen cultural artifacts Between the nineteenth century and today colonial officials collectors and anthropologists dismembered African buildings and dispersed their parts to museums in Europe and the United States Most of these artifacts were cataloged as ornamental art objects which erased their intended functions and the removal of these objects often had catastrophic consequences for the original structures Africa's Buildings traces the history of the collection and distribution of African architectural fragments documenting the brutality of the colonial regimes that looted Africa's buildings and addressing the ethical questions surrounding the display of these objects Itohan Osayimwese ranges across the whole of Africa from Egypt in the north to Zimbabwe in the south and spanning the western central and eastern regions of the continent She describes how collectors employed violent means to remove elements such as columns and door panels from buildings and how these methods differentiated architectural collecting from conventional collecting She shows how Western collectors mischaracterized building components as ornament erasing their architectural character and concealing the evidence of their theft Osayimwese discusses how the very act of displacing building parts like floor tiles and woven screen walls has resulted in a loss of knowledge about their original function and argues that because of these removals scholars have yet to fully grasp the variety and character of African architecture Richly illustrated Africa's Buildings uncovers the vast scale of cultural displacement perpetrated by the West and proposes a new role for museums in this history one in which they champion the repatriation of Africa's architectural heritage and restitution for African communities African Arts, 2001

Mystic Cults in Magna Graecia Giovanni Casadio, Patricia A. Johnston, 2013-08-15 In Vergil's Aeneid the poet implies that those who have been initiated into mystery cults enjoy a blessed situation both in life and after death This collection of essays brings new insight to the study of mystic cults in the ancient world particularly those that flourished in Magna Graecia essentially the area of present day Southern Italy and Sicily Implementing a variety of methodologies the contributors to Mystic Cults in Magna Graecia examine an array of features associated with such mystery religions that were concerned with individual salvation through initiation and hidden knowledge rather than civic cults directed toward Olympian deities usually associated with Greek religion Contributors present contemporary theories of ancient religion field reports from recent archaeological work and other frameworks for exploring mystic cults in general and individual deities specifically with observations about cultural interactions throughout Topics include Dionysos and Orpheus the Goddess Cults Isis in Italy and Roman Mithras explored by an international array of scholars including Giulia Sfameni Gasparro Aspects of the Cult of Demeter in Magna Graecia and Alberto Bernabè Imago Inferorum Orphica The resulting volume illuminates this often misunderstood range of religious phenomena African Cosmos Christine M. Kreamer, 2012-11-27 A groundbreaking scholarly publication accompanying an exhibition organized by the National Museum of African Art Smithsonian Institution African Cosmos Stellar Arts brings together exceptional works of art dating from ancient times to the present and essays by leading scholars and contemporary artists to consider African cultural astronomy creativity and artistic practice in Africa as it is linked to celestial bodies and atmospheric phenomena African concepts of the universe are intensely personal placing human beings in relation to the earth and sky and with the sun moon and stars At the core of creation myths and the foundation of moral values celestial bodies are often accorded sacred capacities and are part of the cosmological map that allows humans to chart their course through life 107-2 Hearings: Department Of The Interior And Related Agencies Appropriations For 2003, Part 4, 2002, *, 2002 Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations for 2003 United States. Subcommittee on Department of the Interior and Related Agencies, 2002 African Art from the Menil Collection Menil Collection (Houston, Tex.), 2008 Bamana masks and headdresses Lega ivories Dogon sculpture and Benue bronzes are among the many exquisite African artifacts found in the renowned Menil Collection This stunning book the first comprehensive catalogue on the de Menils collection of African art features 115 of the museum s finest pieces Dating primarily from the 19th and 20th centuries these works come from North Africa and the Sahel Coastal West Africa and Central and East Africa An essay by scholar Kristina Van Dyke discusses the formation of the collection which was inspired in part by its relationship to modernist works and by the couple s interest in human rights This insightful text also explains how the de Menils visionary spirit was influenced by African art and places those objects within the context of the whole of the de Menils collection in which works from ancient Byzantine medieval modern Oceanic and Native American cultures speak to the universal struggle for human understanding Entries for the selected works were written by leading scholars in the field and are grouped into sections based on regions Distributed for The Menil Collection James S. Coleman African Studies Center Newsletter ,2001 Ethno Passion Galleria Gottardo,2008 The idea behind the exhibition is to display the exotic objects that embellished the Palazzo Venier dei Leoni during the collector s lifetime Peggy Guggenheim s passion for ethnic art dated back to the period of her tempestuous relationship with Max Ernst who was a keen collector of this kind of art When their relationship broke down in 1943 the artist left with all the works in his collection After settling permanently in Venice and opening her collection to the general public Peggy rekindled her interest in ethnic art and from 1959 she began to acquire works and exhibit them in her home mixing them with contemporary artworks as she felt inclined She developed a genuine passion an involuntary unconscious attraction for these objects which was rooted in purely phenomenal interest she never felt a great need to find out more about their meaning and value She appreciated their decorative nature using them as a means of enhancing her interior design and keeping up with the latest fashions Based on photographs from the period and the scarce information available on the subject it is thought that her private collection consisted of around 50 artworks mainly from Africa and Oceania 35 of these remained in the estate of Palazzo Venier dei Leoni where they have been conserved in the museum s art storage
