The Politics of Writing Islam Mahmut Mutman, 2013-11-21 The Politics of Writing Islam provides a much needed critique of existing forms of studying writing and representing Islam in the West Through critiquing ethnographic literary critical psychoanalytic and theological discourses the author reveals the problematic underlying cultural and theoretical presuppositions Mutman demonstrates how their approach reflects the socially politically and economically unequal relationship between the West and Islam While offering a critical insight into concepts such as writing power post colonialism difference and otherness on a theoretical level Mutman reveals a different perspective on Islam by emphasizing its living everyday and embodied aspects in dynamic relation with the outside world in contrast to the stereotyped authoritarian and backward religion characterized by an omnipotent God Throughout Mutman develops an approach to culture as an embodied everyday living and ever changing practice He argues that Islam should be perceived precisely in this way that is as an open heterogeneous interpretive multiple and worldly belief system within the Abrahamic tradition of ethical monotheism and as one that is contested within as well as outside its own culture

Romantic Science and the Experience of Self Martin Halliwell, 2019-07-23 First published in 1999 this volume follows the work of five influential figures in twentieth century transatlantic intellectual history The work forms the basis for this engaging interdisciplinary study of romantic science In this book Martin Halliwell constructs a tradition of romantic science by indicating points of theoretical intersection in the thought of William James American philosopher Otto Rank Austrian psychoanalyst Erik Erikson Danish German psychologist and Oliver Sacks British neurologist Beginning with the ferment of intellectual activity in late eighteenth century German Romanticism Halliwell argues that only with William James theory of pragmatism early in the twentieth century did romantic science become a viable counter tradition to strictly empirical science Stimulated by recent debates over rival models of consciousness and renewed interest in theories of the self Halliwell reveals that in their challenge to Freud's adoption of ideas from nineteenth century natural science these thinkers have enlarged the possibilities of romantic science for bridging the perceived gulf between the arts and sciences

generally Collective Trauma and the Psychology of Secrets in Transnational Film Deborah Lynn Porter, 2018-01-31
 Collective Trauma and the Psychology of Secrets in Transnational Film advances a methodological line of inquiry based on a fresh insight into the ways in which cinematic meaning is generated and can be ascertained. Premised on a critical reading strategy informed by a metapsychology of secrets, the book features analyses of internationally acclaimed films: Guillermo del Toro's Pan's Labyrinth, Andrei Zvyagintsev's The Return, Jee-woon Kim's A Tale of Two Sisters, and Alejandro Amenábar's The Others. It demonstrates how a rethinking of the figure of the secret in national film yields a new vantage point for examining heretofore unrecognized connections between collective historical experience, cinematic production, and a transnational aesthetic of concealment and hiding.

Capitalism and Citizenship Kathryn Dean, 2012-11-12
 Can capitalism and citizenship co-exist? In recent years, advocates of the Third Way have championed the idea of public spirited capitalism as the antidote to the many problems confronting the modern world. This book develops a multi-disciplinary theory of citizenship, exploring the human abilities needed for its practice. It then argues that capitalism impedes the nurturing of these abilities. In advancing these arguments, Kathryn Dean draws on the work of a wide range of thinkers, including Freud, Marx, Lacan, Habermas, and Castells.

Creative Engagements with Ecologies of Place Mary Modeen, Iain Biggs, 2020-12-28
 This book explores an exciting range of creative engagements with ecologies of place, using geopoetics, deep mapping, and slow residency to propose broadly based collaborations in a form of disciplinary agnosticism. Providing a radical alternative to current notions of interdisciplinarity, this book demonstrates the breadth of new creative approaches and attitudes that now challenge assumptions of the solitary genius and a culture of possessive individualism. Drawing upon a multiplicity of perspectives, the book builds on a variety of differing creative approaches, contrasting ways in which both visual art and the concept of the artist are shifting through engagement with ecologies of place. Through examples of specific established practices in the UK, Australia, and the USA, and other emergent practices from across the world, it provides the reader with a rich illustration of the ways in which ensemble creative undertakings are reactivating art's relationship with place and transforming the role of the artist. This book will be of interest to artists, art educators, environmental activists, cultural geographers, place-based philosophers, and postgraduate students, and to all those concerned with the revival of place through creative work in the twenty-first century.

Passion in Theory Robin Ferrell, 2006-08-21
 Philosophy had either ignored or attacked psychoanalysis; such responses are neither warranted nor helpful. One hundred years after its inception, isn't it time to find out what psychoanalysis has to offer us? In Passion in Theory, Robyn Ferrell does just that and returns with some surprising answers. Concentrating on the work of Freud and Lacan, Robyn Ferrell asks why their work had been so influential in European philosophy yet so marginal in the Anglo-American circles. Passion in Theory explores their conception of the relationship between mind and body and how it provides a key to many current philosophical questions. Passion in Theory is designed for students and researchers in psychoanalysis, traditional and continental philosophy.

Gender and the Organization Marianna Fotaki, Nancy Harding, 2017-10-02 Discussions of feminism and gender in organizations and management studies have with some notable exceptions become stuck in something of a time warp This lies in stark contrast to the developments in the fields of feminism and gender theory more generally Management and organization studies needs new applied topical gender theories that challenge the limits on what can be said about working lives in organizations Gender and the Organization Women at Work in the 21st Century looks to update management organizational studies with the recent developments in gender theory including theories of embodiment affect materiality identity subjectification recognition and the intertwining of political social and the psyche As well as looking backwards at existing feminist and gender theory this exciting book also looks forward developing an organizational feminist theory for the twenty first century Exploring what feminist ethics of an organization would look like this volume shows what a revived feminist organization studies could offer to gender theorists more generally This book will be of interest not only to management and organization theorists but also more generally to feminist and gender theorists working across the social sciences arts and humanities It will appeal to postgraduate and research students and also to established organization and management scholars working in business schools across the world

It's Silence, Soundly John McGreal, 2016-04-21 It's Silence Soundly It's Nothing Seriously and It's Absence Presently continue The It Series published by Matador since The Book of It 2010 They constitute another stage in an artistic journey exploring the visual and audial dialectic of mark word and image that began over 25 years ago In their aesthetic form the books are a decentred trilogy united together in a new concept of The Bibliograph All three present this new aesthetic object which transcends the narrow limits of the academic bibliography The alphabetical works also share a tripartite structure and identical length The Bibliograph itself is characterised by its strategic place within each book as a whole as well as by the complex variations in meaning of the dominant motifs nothingness absence and silence which recur throughout the alphabetical entries that constitute the elements of each text It's Nothing Seriously for example addresses the amusing paradox that so much continues to be written today about nothing The aleatory character of the entries in the texts encourage the modern reader to reflect on each theme and to read them in a new way The reader is invited as well to examine their various intertextual relations across given conventional boundaries in the arts and sciences at several levels of physical psychical social reproduction

Cryptomimesis Jodey Castricano, 2001-11-07 She develops the theory of cryptomimesis a term devised to accommodate the convergence of philosophy psychoanalysis and certain Gothic stylistic formal and thematic patterns and motifs in Derrida's work that give rise to questions regarding writing reading and interpretation Using Edgar Allan Poe's Madeline and Roderick Usher Bram Stoker's Dracula and Stephen King's Louis Creed she illuminates Derrida's concerns with inheritance revenance and haunting and reflects on deconstruction as ghost writing Castricano demonstrates that Derrida's Specters of Marx owes much to the Gothic insistence on the power of haunting and explores how deconstruction can be thought of as the ghost or deferred promise of Marxism She traces the movement of the phantom throughout Derrida's other texts arguing that such writing provides us with an uneasy model of subjectivity because it suggests that to be is to be haunted. Castricano claims that cryptomimesis is the model method and theory behind Derrida's insistence that to learn to live we must learn how to talk with ghosts.
