Ethical Dilemmas in Education: Considering Challenges and Risks in Practice Carol Brown, Mary Wild, 2022-11-07

Ethical Dilemmas in Educational Research is a valuable resource for both researchers and supervisors. Having myself sat on a university ethics committee, I appreciate not only the considerations needed when approving applications but also the controversy around what could be viewed as undue restrictions on research. The real life and hypothetical dilemmas presented in this book should help guide researchers towards effective but ethically sensitive designs. Dr Katy Smart, CPsychol, AFBPsS, Department of Psychiatry, University of Oxford, UK. Ethical Dilemmas in Educational Research is an invaluable guide for educational researchers around the world, helping to develop best practices and make informed decisions. This book demonstrates how a careful balance must be struck between the needs of participants, increasing regulatory guidelines, and the academic freedom of the educational researcher. The authors discuss an array of issues arising in the field of educational research, including ethical dilemmas in action, issues of agency and privacy, and researcher reflexivity. With a foreword by Professor Ian Menter, this book goes beyond the guidelines and focuses on the specific dilemmas that educational researchers face, illustrated with real life and inclusive examples. The book focuses on the resolution of ethical dilemmas in educational research and not just the dilemmas themselves. It highlights the role of committees and guidelines with an emphasis on misunderstandings and common purposes. It is written by academics from differing theoretical and methodological perspectives and disciplines across the spectrum of educational research. It presents specific dilemmas encountered during research in the early years, schools, and universities. The authors use these ideas to build on the foundations of an ethical approach and find new ways of working together and learning from one another to ensure best practice in the educational research field and forge a more united forward path. Carol Brown is a Senior Lecturer in Psychology and Education, Faculty Research Ethics Officer at Oxford Brookes University, UK. Mary Wild is Professor in Education and former Head of the School of Education at Oxford Brookes University, UK.

Undoing Ethics Natasha Whiteman, 2012-01-07 Over the past decade researchers from different academic disciplines have paid increasing attention to the productivity of online environments The ethical underpinnings of research in such settings however remain contested and often controversial As traditional debates have been reignited by the need to respond to the particular characteristics of technologically mediated environments researchers have entered anew key debates regarding the moral legal and regulative aspects of research ethics A growing trend in this work has been towards the promotion of localized and contextualized research ethics the suggestion that the decisions we make should be informed by the nature of the environments we study and the habits expectations of participants within them Despite such moves the relationship between the empirical theoretical and methodological aspects of Internet research ethics remains underexplored Drawing from ongoing sociological research into the practices of media cultures online this book provides a timely and distinctive response to this need This book explores the relationship between the production of ethical stances in two different contexts the ethical manoeuvring of participants within online media fan communities and the ethical decision making of the author as Internet researcher manoeuvring as it were in the academic community In doing so the book outlines a reflexive framework for exploring research ethics at different levels of analysis the empirical settings of research the theoretical perspectives which inform the researcher s objectification of the research settings and the methodological issues and practical decisions that constitute the activity as research The analysis of these different levels develops a way of thinking about ethical practice in terms of stabilizing and destabilizing moves within and between research and researched communities The analysis emphasizes the continuities and discontinuities between both research practice and online media fan activity and social activity in on and offline environments
