

The background of the entire cover is a vibrant science fiction illustration. In the foreground, a city skyline is visible, with various buildings and structures, some of which are illuminated. The city is situated on a body of water, and the lights from the city are reflected on the water's surface. In the background, a massive, textured planet or moon dominates the sky, its surface showing craters and geological features. The sky is a deep blue, and a bright star or sun is visible in the upper left corner, casting a glow over the scene.
