Speaking the Truth in Love Daniel R. Berger, 2007-01-01 Approaching public communication from a liberal arts point of view Speaking the Truth in Love provides a distinctly Christian perspective of rhetoric Written and oral rhetoric are interwoven throughout the text Two foundational ideas control the majority of the text The first is from Plato's Phaedrus as stated by Paul in Ephesians 4:15 speaking the truth in love The second is from the Apostle Peter in 1 Peter 4:11 if anyone speaks he should do it as one speaking the very words of God The spiritual responsibility of communicating truth in accordance with the nature of God especially the virtue of love is an awesome privilege and opportunity Sound content spoken or written eloquently with charisma will enable words to have a maximum impact The text is designed to be a culminating learning experience for undergraduate communication programs or as an introductory text for graduate programs involving public communication Beginning with a philosophy of language meaning and interaction argument is built against secular deconstructive thought where everyone has a different truth based on language Alongside philosophy we explore ethics and theology from an evangelical perspective Following this a brief history outlines rhetorical thought from pre testament classics to today Based upon these ideas we take a closer look at communication theory as it relates to public communication Finally the text addresses the practice of both written and oral communication

Gangel,1997-01-05 Team leadership is the exercise of one s spiritual gifts under the call of God to serve a certain group of people in achieving the goals God has given them toward the end of glorifying Christ How is your church or organization governed Does it have an authoritarian top down administration Is the ministry vision developed by a few top officials with little input from staff or volunteers Today the definition of an effective leader has changed No longer does the model leader manage like the Lone Ranger either do it his way or no way Today the model leader shares responsibility with fellow team leaders and seeks to serve them In this complete revision of his earlier work Building Leaders for Church Education Dr Gangel carefully lays a biblical foundation for the team leadership model This leadership is not dogmatic control or personality worship It has no room for political power plays Instead it is Paul gently nurturing young Christians in his epistles It is Barnabas willingly thrusting others into situations where they develop their own gifts It is Christ choosing not one but twelve men to carry on His ministry It is servant leadership With examples illustrations and suggestions for further reading at the end of each chapter Dr Gangel prods and encourages the reader to move beyond the safety net of autocratic leadership into the

Principles and Practices of Christian Education

Robert W. Pazmiño, 2002-04-29 Principles and Practices of Christian Education shows teachers how they can use two important principles that stand behind all evangelical practices to make their education program stand out from all the others in its nurture of students. First, evangelical Christian education recognizes the need for conversion, personal and corporate transformation that reconnects people to their Creator. Second, evangelical Christian education strives for connection, making contact with people as unique individuals who live in a particular society and who need to know more about scripture. In this book, Christian education students learn that the work for which they prepare is a partnership with God to transform people. Their central task is worship, but through it and other activities they lead others to faith, commitment, and transformation of communities.

Christly Gestures Brett Webb-Mitchell, 2003 The church is not only the central place of Christian worship but also a place of faith-filled education. Christly Gestures reframes the very meaning of religious education, exploring what the form and content of Christian learning would look like if local churches truly saw themselves as the body of Christ. Author Brett Webb Mitchell begins with the writings of Paul, using them to clarify the biblical image of Christ's body as the community of believers. Taking this powerful analogy to heart, he suggests that Christian education must not only nurture the minds and spiritual lives of church members but also educate their bodies into the Christly gestures, performing acts of faith that imitate Jesus and embody the gospel in daily life. In the quest for a richer, more relevant understanding of Christian education, Webb Mitchell provides meaningful answers to questions concerning the purpose, context, ways, and means of educating Christians today.
