'Bitter with the Past but Sweet with the Dream': Communism in the African American Imaginary Cathy Bergin,2015-05-19 The legacy of the relationship between African American writers and Communism in the US is a contested one Bergin argues that in three novels by seminal mid century authors Wright Himes and Ellison Communism is not dismissed as incapable of meeting the demands of black political identity but is castigated for its refusal to do so A detailed focus on the political milieu in which these texts operate challenges many of the presumptions about the inability of Communism to comprehend racial oppression which dominate literary critical approaches to these novels She draws on the complex formations black political agency presumed and reproduced by American Communism during the Depression      After the Rebellion Sekou M. Marable, 2016-01-23 Hurricane Katrina of August September 2005 one of the most destructive natural disasters in U S history dramatically illustrated the continuing racial and class inequalities of America In this powerful reader Seeking Higher Ground prominent scholars and writers examine the racial impact of the disaster and the failure of governmental corporate and private agencies to respond to the plight of the New Orleans black community Contributing authors include Julianne Malveaux Melissa Harris Lacewell Ronald Walters Chester Hartman Gregory D Squires Mindy Thompson Fullilove Alan Stein and Gene Preuss This reader is the second volume of the Souls Critical Black Studies Series edited by Manning Marable and produced by the institute for Research in African American Studies of Columbia University      Modernity And Consumption: Theory, Politics, And The Public In Singapore And Malaysia Antonio Leopold Rappa, 2002-03-25 The Enlightenment theorists involved in the public private debate exposed the logical fallacies of theology and the philosophical weaknesses of metaphysics but left little room for understanding contemporary modes of consumption What does it mean to be a consumer in the early 21st century Do modern markets provide real choices for consumers in neoliberal capitalist democracies Or are consumers ironically slaves to their own patterns of consumption Rejecting Habermas conceptualizations in The Structural Transformation of the Public Sphere 1991 Rappa offers an examination of modernity and consumption with a non Marxist modernity Resistance theoretical frame mRf He argues that late modernity the ethos experience and consciousness of global and technological transformation today is not about the fusion of public and private spaces Rather modernity and consumption involves the deep penetration of private space by public space to the extent that private space becomes dependent conditional and decrepit The Private has become contingent on the Public Decisions about what to consume no longer reflect the mindful choices of private interest seeking and wealth maximizing individuals but reveal a new kind of public control through foundational images of success failure horror violence and hope      Infrastructures of Apocalypse Jessica Hurley, 2020-10-13 A new approach to the vast nuclear infrastructure and the apocalypses it produces focusing on Black queer Indigenous and Asian American literatures Since 1945 America has spent more resources on nuclear technology than any other national project. Although it requires a massive infrastructure that touches society on myriad levels, nuclear technology has typically been discussed in a limited top-down fashion that clusters around powerful men. In Infrastructures of Apocalypse, Jessica Hurley turns this conventional wisdom on its head, offering a new approach that focuses on neglected authors and Black, queer, Indigenous, and Asian American perspectives. Exchanging the usual white male nuclear canon for authors that include James Baldwin, Leslie Marmon Silko, and Ruth Ozeki, Infrastructures of Apocalypse delivers a fresh literary history of post-1945 America that focuses on apocalypse from below. Here, Hurley critiques the racialized urban spaces of civil defense and reads nuclear waste as a colonial weapon. Uniting these diverse lines of inquiry is Hurley's belief that apocalyptic thinking is not the opposite of engagement but rather a productive way of imagining radically new forms of engagement. Infrastructures of Apocalypse offers futurelessness as a place from which we can construct a livable world. It fills a blind spot in scholarship on American literature of the nuclear age while also offering provocative, surprising new readings of such well-known works as Atlas Shrugged, Infinite Jest, and Angels in America. Infrastructures of Apocalypse is a revelation for readers interested in nuclear issues, decolonial literature, speculative fiction, and American studies.

The African American Challenge to Just War Theory R. Cumming, 2015-12-04 In this innovative treatment of the ethics of war, Ryan P. Cumming brings classical sources of just war theory into conversation with African American voices. The result is a new direction in just war thought that challenges dominant interpretations of just war theory by looking to the perspectives of those on the underside of history and politics.

God and Human Dignity Rufus Burrow Jr., 1992-01-31 Although countless books have been devoted to the life and work of Martin Luther King Jr., few if any have focused on King's appropriation of and contribution to the intellectual tradition of personalism. Emerging as a philosophical movement in the early 1900s, personalism is a type of philosophical idealism that has a number of affinities with Christianity, such as a focus on a personal God and the sanctity of persons. Burrow points to similarities and dissimilarities between personalism and the social gospel movement with its call to churchgoers to involve themselves in the welfare of both individuals and society. He argues that King's adoption of personalism represented the fusion of his Black Christian faith and his commitment not only to the social gospel of Rauschenbusch but most especially to the social gospelism practiced by his grandfather, father, and Black preacher scholars at Morehouse College. Burrow devotes much-needed attention both to King's conviction that the universe is value-infused and to the implications of this ideology for King's views on human dignity and his concept of the Beloved Community. Burrow also sheds light on King's doctrine of God. He contends that King's view of God has been uncritically and erroneously relegated by Black liberation theologians to the general category of theistic absolutism and he offers corrections to what he believes are misinterpretations of this and other aspects of King's thought. He concludes with an application of King's personalism to present-day social problems, particularly as they pertain to violence in the Black community. This book is a useful and fresh contribution to our understanding of the life and thought of Martin Luther King Jr It will be read with interest by ethicists theologians philosophers and social historians
