Eurasian Cities Souleymane Coulibaly, Uwe Deichmann, William R. Dillinger, Marcel Ionescu-Heroiu, Ioannis N. Kessides, Charles Kunaka, Daniel Saslavsky, 2012-09-07 Eurasia has gone through tremendous changes over the past 20 years which are impacting the function and the form of its cities Looking ahead policy makers need to promote the changes that will make Eurasian cities the main drivers of Eurasia s growth via better planning connectivity greening and new financing

Geographic Perspectives on Soviet Central Asia Robert Lewis, 2003-10-04 In a unique survey based on new census data Geographic Perspectives on Soviet Central Asia highlights the region s geographic economic and ecological problems since 1945 Painting a grim picture this book investigates how the combination of rapid population growth and declining per capita investment is causing economic conditions to slide in rural areas and encouraging an ecological catastrophe The authors discuss the effects of low rural out migration and show that at current growth rates the rural working age population will double with each generation Unprecedented in a developed country this is causing the region to become more rather than less rural Soviet Central Asia is an area of low productivity and the book considers the lack of support from Soviet central government to the region Wishing to maximise their return to capital and labour the government is concentrating its investment in the European West and directing insufficient funds for a growing workforce in Central Asia Soviet Central Asia also faces grave ecological problems the declining level of the Aral Sea extensive soil salinization and water pollution all largely due to past attempts at irrigation The authors consider the effect of these disasters on the area and look to future possibilities in this very important region of the world
