Space in the Roman World Richard J. A. Talbert, Kai Brodersen, 2004 How was space perceived and presented in the Roman world While it is tempting to assume that any modern historical atlas with its maps of the world as the Romans saw it gives a sufficient answer to these questions recent research has suggested that the issue is more complex than this To follow up such questions in more detail the five original contributions to this volume by leading experts from Britain Germany the United States and Switzerland discuss the tradition of scientific geography Roman itinerary literature and the Tabula

Peutingeriana Space, Time and Language in Plutarch Aristoula Georgiadou, Katerina Oikonomopoulou, 2017-10-10 Space and time have been key concepts of investigation in the humanities in recent years In the field of Classics in particular they have led to the fresh appraisal of genres such as epic historiography the novel and biography by enabling a close focus on how ancient texts invest their representations of space and time with a variety of symbolic and cultural meanings This collection of essays by a team of international scholars seeks to make a contribution to this rich interdisciplinary field by exploring how space and time are perceived linguistically codified and portrayed in the biographical and philosophical work of Plutarch of Chaeronea 1st 2nd centuries CE The volume's aim is to show how philological approaches in conjunction with socio cultural readings can shed light on Plutarch's spatial terminology and clarify his conceptions of time especially in terms of the ways in which he situates himself in his era's fascination with the past The volume's intended readership includes Classicists intellectual and cultural historians and scholars whose field of expertise embraces theoretical study of space and time along with the linguistic strategies used to portray them in literary or historical texts The Augustan Space Monica R. Gale, Anna Chahoud, 2024-06-27 A wide ranging exploration of the construction and representation of space and monumentality in central texts of the Augustan period

Roman Empire Sven Günther, 2025-05-19 The Roman Empire is the paradigmatic empire of world history Its rise stability and prosperity but also decline and fall has impressed and fascinated people around the world and throughout times The book written by eminent scholars of the field brings the features structures and powers of this empire to light and comprehensively presents the subject with a global perspective

Identity and Territory Eyal Ben-Eliyahu, 2019-04-30 Throughout history the relationship between Jews and their land has been a vibrant much debated topic within the Jewish world and in international political discourse Identity and Territory explores how ancient conceptions of Israel of both the land itself and its shifting frontiers and borders have played a decisive role in forming national and religious identities across the millennia Through the works of Second Temple period Jews and rabbinic literature Eyal Ben Eliyahu examines the role of territorial status boundaries mental maps and holy sites drawing comparisons to popular Jewish and Christian perceptions of space Showing how space defines nationhood and how Jewish identity influences perceptions of space Ben Eliyahu uncovers varied understandings of the land that resonate with contemporary views of the relationship between territory and ideology
