Freedom's Moon Margaret Mendenhall, 2019-06-23 Because Thomas Bishop was born to a slave mother he is condemned to a life of slavery even though he has a white father out there somewhere he has never met But he has a dream an impossible one His dream to one day be free and prosperous enough to offer a secure future to the woman he loves seems unlikely Even after being whipped mercilessly for learning to read which the law in Missouri prohibits secreted away in the middle of the night sold and then reported as dead Thomas's dream still can't be squelched Determined to escape the cruel institution of slavery he and his companions set out into the unknown with bloodhounds hot on their trail only to discover the Underground Railroad a group of people filled with compassion for the unfortunate victims of slavery With their help and an unshakable trust in God he travels across Missouri to Kansas Territory but even then will it be enough to achieve the fulfillment of such a ridiculous dream In this novel a slave while pursuing his dream of freedom and prosperity for himself and the woman he loves connects with the Underground Railroad as he sets out on an unforgettable journey History of Madison County, Iowa, and Its People Herman A. Mueller, 1915 Publisher's announcement of a forthcoming 2 volume history of Madison County Iowa The Broadcast Century and Beyond Robert L. Hilliard, Michael C. Keith, 2012-10-02 The Broadcast Century and Beyond is a popular history of the most influential and innovative industry of the century. The story of broadcasting is told in a direct and informal style blending personal insight and authoritative scholarship to fully capture the many facets of this dynamic industry. The book vividly depicts the events, people, programs, and companies that made television and radio dominant forms of communication. The latest edition includes coverage of all the technologies that have emerged over the past decade and discusses the profound impact they have had on the broadcasting industry in political, social, and economic spheres. Broadcasting as a whole has been completely revolutionized with the advent of YouTube, podcasting, iPhones, etc., and the authors show how this closing of world-wide broadcasting channels affects the industry. A Digest of Railway Decisions John Fletcher Lacey, 1884 The American Reports, 1912. Containing all decisions of general interest decided in the courts of last resort of the several states 1869-1887. The American Reports Isaac Grant Thompson, Irving Browne, 1886 The Quieted Voice, Blames the government's deregulation of radio and the corporate obsession with the bottom line in the wake of the controversial Telecommunications Act of 1996. Fighting for greater democratization of the airwaves, the authors call for a return to localism to save Americans from corporate and government control of public information. Invisible Stars Donna Halper, 2015-02-11 Invisible Stars was the first book to recognize that women have always played an important part in American electronic media. The emphasis is on social history as the author skillfully explains how the changing role of women in different eras influenced their participation in broadcasting. This is not just the story of radio stars or broadcast journalists but a social history of women both on and off the air. Beginning in the early 1920s with the emergence of radio, the book chronicles the ambivalence toward women in broadcasting during the 1930s and 1940s, the gradual change in status of women in the 1950s and 1960s, the increased presence of women in broadcasting in the 1970s, and the successes of women in broadcasting in the 1980s and 1990s. The second edition is expanded to include the social and political changes that occurred in the 2000s, such as the growing number of women talk show hosts, changing attitudes about women in leadership roles in business, more about minority women in media, and women in sports and women sports announcers. The author addresses the question of whether women are in fact no longer invisible in electronic media. She provides an assessment of where progress for women in society as well as broadcasting can be seen and where progress appears totally stalled.
